MURDER WITNESS UNCERTAIN; COURT ORDERS ACQUITTAL

Judge, in Dismissing Charge Against Joseph Cipolla, Says Bioja Genovese
Should Be Prosecuted.

WITNESS REVERSES PRIOR TESTIMONY

Previously Declared He Recognized Defendant as Man Who Shot Brother and Himself in Holdup Feb. 21.

The prosecution of Joseph Cipolla on a first degree murder charge ended today, when Bioja Genovese of 1918 North Ninth street, brother of Gus Genovese, whom Cipolla was accused of having killed, testified that he could not identify Cipolla positively.

Judge Landwehr, in directing the jury to acquit Cipolla, said he believed Bioja Genovese should be prosecuted for perjury. He said that Genovese, in his testimony before the coroner and the grand jury, declared he was certain that Cipolla was the man who killed his brother and said he knew and recognized the man as unmistakably as he would recognize his brother.

Prisoner in $15,000 Bond.
Cipolla was held in $15,000 bond on today's charges, both growing out of the killing of Gus Genovese. These charges were assault to kill and assault to rob. Bioja Genovese is prosecuting witness in both cases, but it was said that the police would try to find other witnesses.

Gus Genovese and his brother, Bioja, were shot the night of Feb. 21, last, when two men with handkerchiefs over their faces held up seven men in a pool room on the east side of Eighth street, between Franklin avenue and Morgan street. Gus died and Bioja recovered.

Cipolla, who is known to the police and in the neighborhood as "Green Onions," was held for the shooting, on the statement of Bioja Genovese. In today's hearing, Genovese spoke of the prisoner by his nickname.

Had Mentioned "Green Onions."
In today's hearing Bioja Genovese said he had testified previously that "Green Onions" shot his brother, but that at the time when he said this he was in a weakened condition from his own wound. He said he would not now repeat the statement under oath.

"I had 'Green Onions' on my mind, and maybe that was why I mentioned him," the witness said. "I was thinking of a fight in a pool room with 'Green Onions' last January."

"Later," the witness continued, "I saw a man on the street that looked like the man who shot my brother. I came to the jail and inquired about 'Green Onions' and they said he was still in jail."

SENATE ENGROSSES TEMPORARY CUT IN INCOME TAX RATE

Acts on Administration Bill for Rate of Half of One Per Cent for Last Six Months of 1921.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 28.—The Senate last night, by a strict party vote, ordered to the conference the bill changing for only the last half of this year the State income tax rate from 1 1/2 per cent to 1/2 per cent. This action was taken after a fight by Senator Bowler, Democrat, Vernon County, for a permanent reduction in the tax rate to 1/2 per cent.

The measure, as engrossed, increases the exemptions for married heads of families to $3000, plus $400 for each dependent child, leaving the permanent tax rate of 1 1/2 per cent on all incomes over these exemptions for married persons, and on all income in excess of $1000 for unmarried persons, without dependents.

AMERICANS IN PARIS UNABLE TO PLACE BETS ON DEMPSEY

French People Solidly Behind Carpenter, But Don't Let Patriotism Give Them Overconfidence.

PARIS, June 28.—The French people are solidly behind Dempsey, but the sporting papers for several weeks have been voicing a warning against what they have considered overconfidence based on sentimental loyalty. French sportsmen frankly admit that few of them know Dempsey, while Americans have a better chance to appraise Carpenter.

The big fight is occupying large space in all the newspapers and crowding international politics and the "next war" out of conversation. The American supporters of Dempsey here, however, cannot get all their money covered, even at liberal odds.

COURT DECLINES TO STOP PRIZE FIGHT

Petition for Injunction Presented by the International Reform Bureau.

NEWARK, N. J., June 28.—Vice Chancellor John Foster late today declined to stop the Dempsey-Carpenter bout in Jersey City next Saturday.

When a petition was presented to him by representatives of the International Reform Bureau, asking him to issue an injunction restraining Promoter Tex Rickard from putting on the contest, Foster asserted that he could issue no such order against a probable or intended violation of criminal law.

He told the reformers that, if it were found after Saturday that anyone had violated the State boxing law, they then could be held responsible.

Foster passed on the petition after Vice Chancellor Stevenson had declined to act in the matter because he had too much work to dispose of before going on his vacation.

Counsel for the Reform Bureau charged that the affair was to be a prize fight and not a boxing match, that it would attract gamblers and pickpockets to Jersey City and that it would demoralize the youth of the community.

He offered affidavits by bureau members to the effect that they had interviewed both principals and had been told by each that he intended to win with a knockout.

$120 COCKTAIL SHAKER BILLED AS SADDLE, TAX SAYS

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 28.—A Federal grand jury today indicted Martin & Martin, incorporated, Fifth avenue, saddlers and dealers in leather goods, and Herbert P. Martin, a member of the firm, on charges of violating the revenue act of 1913 and conspiring to defraud the Government by evading payment of luxury taxes.

United States Attorney Hayward said the indictment marked the beginning of a campaign against evaders of the luxury tax.

Thirteen couples were contained in the indictment returned against the firm, which has offices in London and Philadelphia. Mrs. Cornelius Van derbilt was named as one of its customers on whose purchases the firm had failed to pay the luxury tax.

Hayward declared the firm's method was to make out two sales slips for articles on which luxury taxes were due. Thus, in one case, a $120 cocktail shaker on which a $6.50 tax was due appeared as $120 worth of harness, saddle and spurs, on which no tax was due.

DEMPSEY'S AUTOMOBILE IS SEIZED FOR DOCTOR'S FEE

By the Associated Press.

PHILADELPHIA, June 28.—An automobile belonging to Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion and said to be valued at $15,000, was seized in front of a hotel here today to satisfy a judgment obtained against him by Dr. Herbert E. Goddard for an unpaid balance for a minor operation on Dempsey's nose.

A friend of Dempsey had driven the car here from Lancaster City on an errand for the champion.

Dr. Goddard charged Dempsey $1000 for the operation, which was performed more than a year ago. The fighter paid $500, declaring the fee sufficient. The doctor sued and judgment for the remaining $500.

'INSIDE STUFF' IN TAILORING TRADE CAUSES 3 ARRESTS

Partners, Charged With Running Lottery, Say Plan Was to Give Suits to "Likely Chaps" to Get Trade.

CLEARING HOUSE UPSET SCHEME

Customer Paid $1 a Month in Hope of Winning Suit on a Number Before Full Price Had Been Paid.

It was only the "inside stuff" used by many tailors to get trade that resulted yesterday in the arrest of Daniel Madden, W. Edward Satterfield and Michael Bena, they declared, today at a Post-Dispatch reporter at their place of business, the City Tailoring Co., 203 Benoit Building, Ninth and Pine streets. The police, however, took the position that the practice amounted to a lottery, which, if it had been permitted to continue, would have reached proportions of $37,000 in 60 weeks.

The three partners modestly disclaimed any credit for originating the idea which led to their present difficulty. "We got a tough break," said Madden. "This game has been operated in this town for 15 years, and nobody ever got into any trouble over it before."

Satterfield and Madden, young, smoothly garbed and possessing warm smiles and handshakes, have had charge of the business end of the firm, Bena explained. Bena, who is 44 years old, is the tailor of the establishment, and he said he didn't know much about the business methods. "I make the clothes," he said. "Madden and Satterfield sell them." His partners agreed that this was the arrangement.

Customers Cause Arrests.
Two customers, W. H. Bryant, 4748 Easton avenue, and L. D. Dunne, 3819 Finney avenue, yesterday caused the arrest of Bena and his son, Joseph, 17 years old. Satterfield and Madden were arrested last night. This was the customers' complaint: They said that they entered a contract to pay $1 a week each to the tailoring firm, and were given each a ticket bearing a number. It was agreed, they said, that if on any day the last three numbers of the daily clearing house report should tally with the number of one of the tickets the holder would at once receive a $50 suit of clothes without further payments. If he failed to hold a winning ticket, he would continue to make his payments up to $50, when he would receive a suit.

Clearing House Upset Scheme.
Each had paid in $21, they said, when the Clearing House began the publication of its last five figures in ciphers, thus upsetting the scheme. Whereupon, they said, they demanded their money back. The collector who had called at their automobile repair shop, at 1510 Market street, not only told them that they would not get their money back, but they then got a policeman and went to the tailoring establishment.

"I'll tell you just how we worked this thing," Satterfield today told the reporter, with an air of engaging frankness. "I don't think there was any Clearing House angle to this. This simply was the old 'suit club' plan, which almost every tailor uses, but which some probably wouldn't admit."

Suits Given to Likely Chaps.
"We have this plan of paying advance installments on suits. There's every once in a while we look over our accounts and pick out some likely chap who has paid in a few dollars, and give him a suit without further payments. The customer selected is one who can wear his clothes well, and who has plenty of friends. It's an advertising scheme. We figure we can give away one suit for every 10 we sell. Nearly every tailor does that. Why, there are men in this town who haven't bought a suit of clothes for 10 years!"

"We pick out fellows who go around a lot, and who know lots of people. A young fellow who works in a bank, and who is popular with the other employees, would be a good example of the type I mean. Sometimes we select automobile salesmen because they usually have lots of acquaintances, and dress well. It's good business. They send in lots of trade."

Expected to Tell Friends.
"Here's another thing," supplied Madden. "When such a man gets a suit for a few dollars or for nothing, he tells his friends. If he doesn't, we tell them. If they are already in, it encourages them to keep up their payments in the hope that they will be selected next. If they aren't in, they get in."

"You see," he continued, "the customer can't lose. Even if he pays his full $50, he gets a $50 suit, and we get a customer."

CANADA MUST RULE IN AFFAIRS WITH U. S., HER PREMIER TELLS CONFERENCE

Meighen Sets Forth Four Points as His Views of Adequate Voice for Dominions in Government.

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, June 28.—A declaration of dominion rights by the Premier of Canada, Arthur Meighen, setting forth what, in his judgment, should constitute an adequate voice for the dominions in the foreign affairs of the empire, was debated at length yesterday by the conference of Prime Ministers.

Premier Meighen, whose address was by way of being a review of Lord Curzon's outline of the world policy of the British foreign office, laid down four cardinal principles, which, he declared, were essential to the heightened status of the dominions.

Four Points Set Forth.
Although the speech and the discussions which ensued have not yet been made public, it is understood its four points were as follows:

First—That, upon all questions of foreign policy, such as matters arising in connection with Palestine, Mesopotamia and the Middle East, the Governments of the Dominions should be kept thoroughly and constantly informed.

Second—That, upon all questions of foreign policy affecting the empire as a whole, the Dominions Governments must be consulted.

Third—That the British Government should enter into no treaties or special alliances without consultation with and the advice of the Dominions, and that all such action should be subject to the approval of the Dominion Parliaments.

Fourth—That, upon all questions arising as between the United States and Australia characterized by the Dominion Government must be accepted as final.

Hughes Demands Discussion.
The foregoing doctrine created considerable stir in the conference. Hughes of Australia characterized the statement as a vastly important declaration, calling for thorough examination, and insisted that it be discussed. In this he was supported by Premier Smuts of South Africa.

Asked by a member of the conference where or how he would draw the line between questions affecting the empire as a whole and those with which Britain alone was concerned, Premier Meighen replied that the matter would have to be left to time and experience.

Premier Meighen is receiving cable messages from British Columbia asking that no action be taken on the Anglo-Japanese alliance or the status of Indian subjects which might result in more Orientals entering Canada. The Anglo-Japanese alliance, however, not concerned with immigration. That subject is exclusively dealt with in the treaty of commerce and navigation, which is entirely separate from the Anglo-Japanese alliance.

ULSTER PREMIER ACCEPTS CALL TO IRISH PEACE CONFERENCE

Sir James Craig Announces Decision of Cabinet to Premier Lloyd George.

By the Associated Press.

BELFAST, June 28.—Sir James Craig, the Ulster Premier, announced today that the Ulster Cabinet had accepted the invitation of Lloyd George, the Prime Minister, for the proposed conference between representatives of Northern and Southern Ireland and the British Government.

Sir James will be accompanied by all the Ministers of the Ulster Cabinet, with the exception of Sir Dawson Bates, whose duties as Home Secretary necessitate his remaining in Belfast.

Meanwhile Eamonn de Valera, the Republican leader, is in Dublin, consulting his colleagues regarding the invitation to meet the representatives of Ulster and of the British Government in London. It is understood that he has paid a visit to Mount Joy prison to see Arthur Griffith, founder of the Sinn Fein, who is under confinement there.

25-YEAR-OLD HORSE COMES BACK AND TAKES BLUE RIBBON

David Grey, Famous Thoroughbred Hunter, Retired, but Finds Elucid in Youth in Meadow.

By the Associated Press.

WINCHESTER, Va., June 28.—Despite his 25 years, David Grey, famous thoroughbred hunter, came out of retirement this season and captured the blue ribbon medium and heavy class at the annual Upperville Horse Show.

The aged horse was considered by his owner last fall as too old for further competition in the show ring and was retired to the pasture to finish out his life.

But down in the meadow the old horse found the elixir of youth and emerged sleek and fat and as frisky as a 2-year-old. So he was given another chance to display his prowess, and added new ribbons to his already long list.

GOLF AND TENNIS FEES OPPOSED BY CUNLIFF AND PAPE

Mayor's Veto of Ordinance Is Urged by Welfare Director and Park Commissioner, Who Outline Reasons.

PUBLIC HEARING AT CITY HALL TOMORROW

Three-Fourths of 26,881 Permits for Tennis Courts Are Held by Children Under 16 Years Old.

A communication asking that he veto the bill passed by the Board of Aldermen last Friday, providing a charge for the privilege of playing golf and tennis at the places afforded by the city, was sent to Mayor Kiel today by Director of Public Welfare Cunliff and Park Commissioner Pape.

The Mayor will hold a public hearing on the bill in his office tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

The communication of Cunliff and Pape, pointing out that three-fourths of the tennis permits are to children under 16 and that the chief users of the golf courses are the so-called middle classes, sets forth argument for and against the bill as follows:

For.—The adoption of this ordinance will increase the city revenue, the gross amount of approximately $16,500 for this year. This figure is arrived at on the assumption that we will issue:

1500 annual golf permits... $7,500
20,000 golf games, average 20c game... 4,000
5000 tennis permits at $1 each... 5,000

Total... $16,500

"The charging for permits will decrease the number of players on the course, making it more pleasant for those who can afford to pay for their permit."

Argument Against Fees.
"Against—The revenue received through this bill is not enough to justify putting the department to the trouble and expense in connection with the collection of these fees. The bill provides for the appointment of two cashiers, which would cost the city approximately $2100 per annum. It will cost $2000 more for the police of the golf links, to see that the players have all passed through the cashier's office before starting on the links. This will mean that we will expend $4000 to collect $16,500."

"The maintenance of our golf links last year was $19,000. St. Louis has been advertised to the entire world on account of its wonderful recreational facilities and the fact that these recreation facilities are free. Charging for golf and tennis permits will be but an opening wedge toward the charging for various kinds of recreational facilities, and this important division, which has been rendering real service to the public through recreation, will only be able to render service to those who can afford to pay for it."

Hardships Pointed Out.
"The matter of charging $1 for a tennis permit has had our serious consideration. There have been 26,881 permits issued for the current year—three-fourths of these permits have been issued to children under 16 years of age. We shall extend our citizens that of these years every opportunity to get into our parks and playgrounds and to build up sound, healthy bodies, for these are the citizens of the future and we want them to be strong and healthy."

"The argument will probably be advanced that golf is a rich man's game. This used to be true, but our observation of the municipal golf links led us to believe that there are many so-called mechanics, workingmen, clerks and others who may not be considered rich who look to their game of golf once or twice a week as their only means of recreation. These people belong to the so-called middle class. This class is the one that pays the great bulk of our taxes and they receive the least in return for their taxes. They are not the ones who patronize our hospitals, our clinics, our playgrounds or any of these facilities that the city offers gratuitously to its people. Therefore, although this sport costs more per person than any other, these people receive so little in return that they may be justly entitled to this extra consideration."

Majority for Rejection.
A roll call showed a majority for the rejection of the bill though not a constitutional majority such as is required to pass a bill in the House. Elmer raised the point that the constitutional majority of 72 was required to reject the bill, but Speaker O'Fallon who, although close to Gov. Feltz, had voted to reject it, ruled that only a majority of those voting was required.

Referendum petitions were signed by nearly a thousand voters in Hot where county unit is said to be very unpopular. At the regular session O'Fallon was one of the strongest advocates of the measure.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Lincoln Johnson, Republican committeeman of Georgia, a negro, was nominated today by President Harding to be Recorder of Deeds for the District of Columbia.

Johnson, who is 45 years old, was a member of the Georgia House of Representatives for several years. He was a member of the Georgia National Guard and was a member of the Georgia National Association of Colored People.

Johnson was nominated by a vote of 100 to 0 in the Georgia House of Representatives. He was the only negro nominated for a federal office in the Harding administration.

VOLCANO STROMBOLI, WITH LOUD EXPLOSION, BECOMES ACTIVE; POPULACE FLEES

ROME, June 28.

By the Associated Press.

THE volcano of Stromboli, situated on the island of the same name, off the northern coast of Sicily, has burst into activity. The eruption began with a violent explosion which was heard far from the island, and the people are abandoning their homes and fleeing to Sicily.

Stromboli is a volcano which is remarkable for its activity, having been in eruption for the better part of the last 2000 years. The most violent outbreaks in recent years occurred in 1907 and in 1915. The activity of the volcano in 1907 was considered by some observers as a precursor of the great seismic convulsion which virtually destroyed Messina the next year. In 1915 a new crater was formed, and there was great alarm among the people of the island, but there were not many casualties. In normal times the population of the island is approximately 2000.

UNCLE SAM TO GET $400,000, OR LION'S SHARE, IN BIG FIGHT

Revenue Bureau Points Out the Many Sources of Income From Dempsey-Carpenter Bout.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—How Uncle Sam will come by the lion's share of the gate receipts of the Dempsey-Carpenter fight at Jersey City Saturday is explained in a formal statement issued today by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. The estimate of the total to be received by the Government is $400,000, of which $160,000 will come direct from the estimated gate receipts of $1,600,000.

Dempsey's estimated share of the gate receipts—$300,000—will yield the Government $137,510 in income and surtax, the statement said, while from Carpenter's $200,000 the Government will receive $77,500.

In addition to the direct 10 per cent tax on the gate receipts, brokers who resell tickets at a price of more than 50 cents above the established price will have to pay half of their profit to the Government. It is added, the promoters, referee, time keepers, sparring partners, the principals in the minor bouts which precede the main event and even the contractors who erect the sale stands, will have to account for their income in their tax returns, it is explained.

Besides all of these sources of revenue the statement mentions also transportation taxes, the sale of soft drinks and the like and the 5 per cent tax on the rentals of motion picture films of the fight.

POLICE ORDERED TO STOP USE OF FIREWORKS UNTIL FOURTH

Chief Says Ordinance Is Being Violated in All Parts of City and Patrolmen Are Inactive.

An order to all policemen, to prevent the sale of fireworks before Friday, and to prevent their use until next Monday, the Fourth of July, was issued today by Chief of Police O'Brien, who cited the city ordinance on the subject. The ordinance makes it unlawful to sell any fireworks except from July 1 to 4 inclusive, or to use them except on the Fourth only.

The Chief directed that the order be read at roll call tomorrow, and that it be made to it each day, through next Monday.

"The ordinance is being violated in all parts of the city," the Chief's order said. "It appears that many policemen are making no attempt to enforce the law."

"The firing of blanks or other cartridges at any time is forbidden, and must not be tolerated. The same is true of giant firecrackers. We expect to see that the Fourth of July celebration this year is safe and sane. It cannot be otherwise if the law is enforced. Every policeman will be expected to do his part in enforcing it, and those who do not must suffer the consequences."

REPUBLICANS AGREE ON COMPROMISE PEACE DRAFT

Action Planned in Both Houses to Get Measure to President This Week.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—A compromise draft of the Knox and Porter resolutions to end the state of war with Germany and Austria was agreed upon today by Republican members of the Senate and House. The Republicans planned to get the compromise to a vote in the House tomorrow and in the Senate conference of the Senate and House tomorrow in the week-end congressional recess.

The compromise resolution, it was said, followed the House plan of declaring the state of war with Germany and Austria at an end instead of repealing the war declaration, but Senate provisions for protection of American rights, for reservations affecting enemy alien property and privileges of the treaties of Versailles, Trianon and other post-war engagements were said to have been retained.

ANTI-BEER BILL PASSES HOUSE AND GOES TO SENATE

Measure, Which Prohibits the Volstead Act.

LIMIT ON STRONG DRINK AS MEDICINE

Indications Point to Adoption in Upper Branch This Week; Stormy Debate in the House.

WASHINGTON, June 28.—Passed by a vote of 230 to 93 in the House, the Willis-Campbell bill to prohibit beer as medicine is in the hands of the Senate. The bill carries amendments to the Volstead act designed to limit strictly the use of stronger beverages as medicines. Senator Sterling, chairman of the subcommittee in charge of the measure, said today that the measure will be sent to President Harding before July 4.

Passage of the Willis-Campbell measure in the House yesterday followed four hours of stormy debate, interrupted frequently by shouts from those supporting the legislation to "stop talk and vote." A particularly warm exchange followed the charge by Representative Hill, Republican, Maryland, that Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel for the anti-Saloon League, had drafted the bill. This was denied by Representative Foster, Republican, Ohio.

Kentuckians in Debate.
The vote in the House was more than the necessary two-thirds. In the midst of a plea for passage of the bill, Representative Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, was interrupted by Representative Gilbert, also a Democrat, of the same State, who asked:

"Since we are both from Kentucky, I would like to know if you would not rather see a Kentucky Colonel drinking 100 per cent liquor than a pot-bellied German drinking a keg of beer?"

Barkley replied that, if he had to look upon one of the two evils, he preferred to see the Colonel at the bar.

Representative Cooper, Republican, Ohio, formerly a railroad lawyer, took issue with the American Federation of Labor in standing for light beer and wines, declaring it had no right to make the organization speak on moral questions. He insisted that the federation "did not express the sentiment of the working man."

Representative Cockran, Democrat, New York, declared prohibition or any other law could not be enforced when public sentiment was against it.

Advocating strict enforcement of prohibition, Representative Burton, Republican, Ohio, declared that the Eighteenth Amendment imposes more drastic regulations on the people than any other amendment. It was adopted by an overwhelming majority. We must carry out the mandate of the people.

Kahn Tells of Drinking.
Warning the House against the constant spread of law-breaking since the enactment of drastic prohibition laws, Representative Kahn, Republican, California, turning sharply upon advocates of the anti-beer bill, declared, "There are members here who vote for prohibition and who drink more liquor in a week than I do in a year."

Kahn asserted the Volstead law was being broken every hour of the day and that Congress ought to handle the problem in a rational way.

Neyssa McMein, Who Told in Last Sunday's Post-Dispatch of Her Visit to Carpenter's Camp, Now Describes Her Visit to Dempsey—Says Their Fight Will Be Battle Between Bear and Tiger.

By Neyssa McMein,
Famous Magazine Artist.

SOMEONE trying to make an epigram once said that courage was two-thirds vanity—but he forgot to say what he thought the other third was—and I shouldn't be surprised if it was lack of self-consciousness. On the two or three occasions when I visited this or that celebrity and tried to make some sketches anywhere from one to 40 people would look over my shoulder and murmur from time to time, "It doesn't look a bit like him."

After a few experiences of this kind I got discouraged and decided to give up sketching altogether, but when I was told to "write up" this occasion, I set out for Atlantic City, where Jack Dempsey's headquarters

Dempsey apparently doesn't go in for color schemes the way the elegant Georges does. His costume for the afternoon consisted of bright purple cotton tights, and over this a huge woolly brown sweater—and he looked for all the world like a

are, with a timid but more or less hopeful heart.

Dempsey Atmosphere Different.
With my visit to Carpenter and the memory of his front yard full of gay flowers and his back yard crowded with cows and barns fresh in my memory, I got a shock when we swung through Jack Dempsey's front gate. I really don't think they've done right by the champion, because the house chosen for his residence is the ugliest, stuffiest little yellow one I have ever seen, and the next ugliest is his headquarters, and there isn't much else to attract the eye except dust and cinders.

Apparently, whoever is in power doesn't care how many people see him train, because about 200 of us trailed up to the big, not barn and waited for him to put in an appearance, and when he did I was amazed at the difference between the two men who are going to fight it out July 2.

Dempsey Atmosphere Different.
With my visit to Carpenter and the memory of his front yard full of gay flowers and his back yard crowded with cows and barns fresh in my memory, I got a shock when we swung through Jack Dempsey's front gate. I really don't think they've done right by the champion, because the house chosen for his residence is the ugliest, stuffiest little yellow one I have ever seen, and the next ugliest is his headquarters, and there isn't much else to attract the eye except dust and cinders.

Apparently, whoever is in power doesn't care how many people see him train, because about 200 of us trailed up to the big, not barn and waited for him to put in an appearance, and when he did I was amazed at the difference between the two men who are going to fight it out July 2.

ALLEGES HOUSE IS SHOT FULL OF ELECTRICITY

Fortune Teller Declares Power Plant Employees Fill the Air With It.

Mrs. Annie Crowley, clairvoyant and fortune teller, charging that her house at 6140 Page boulevard, St. Louis County, has been charged with electricity, filed suit at Clayton yesterday against Roll Wells, receiver of the United Railways Co., for $25,000 personal injury damages and $2000 property damages. Mrs. Hazel Kowinsky, who lives with her and keeps house for her, sued for $15,000 personal injury damages.

Next door to Mrs. Crowley's home is a booster power station of the United Railways. Relations between the two women and the employees at the power station are not amicable. Mrs. Crowley, after filing her suit, told a Post-Dispatch reporter that they want to run her out of the neighborhood, and to that end have electrified her house so that she cannot touch metal without being shocked.

She has wired her house from cellar to ceiling to catch the electricity which she says is floating around in it, but this has been ineffectual. The place is still full of electricity, she says, and every once in a while it hits her or Mrs. Kowinsky with a "pop" and a sensation like the sting of a bee, and even time it leaves a scar.

"Shoot Electricity Anywhere."
Mrs. Crowley does not know how the men do it, but she says they know how to shoot electricity anywhere they want to. They have shot so much of it into her house, she says, that she cannot touch anything metallic without getting a shock. She has covered the hot-air registers with rubber to keep from being bounced into the air when she gets on them. Her cellar is festooned with wires. Wires run along the ceilings from room to room and connect with the gas pipes. The edges of the doors are wired to divert the electricity and send it into the ground.

Her bed is set on glass casters and wires are criss-crossed under it and rubber ponchos are placed under the mattress and between the coverings. Yesterday she had a man plastering the walls of the basement to keep the electricity out.

In spite of all this, she says, the electricity is still there. At night it comes in and floats around and hits her, and as a result of it all she has become a nervous wreck. She weighs about 200 pounds.

"Can't Use Sewing Machine."
She cannot use the sewing machine any more, she says, because it is so filled with electricity that when she tries to run it the sensation is like needles and pins penetrating her flesh. The electric iron is out of commission. It was a good iron, and she used it nine months, and then the electricity became so strong that it burned out.

On the walls and woodwork there are tiny marks that might have been made by a pointed instrument. Mrs. Crowley says that is where the electricity hits.

Mrs. Kowinsky says it hit her on the foot once and made her lame, and once it hit her above the knee without being completely surrounded with machine guns.

One of his associates asked me if I'd like to meet him and have him sit for me, but I knew if we were introduced I'd probably shake hands with him, and if he gave me any kind of a grip at all he'd probably crush my little paw to pieces and then I'd have to sue him or something. So we waited until he had done some back exercises and we hoped he would box, but his manager announced that his eye hurt him—so that part of the program was eliminated.

The trouble with being an amateur reporter is that you have no statistics to fall back on. I've heard of the Fitzsimmons punch, the traditional stamina of old John L. Sullivan and the supreme agility of James J. Corbett. To the mind of the artist, however, it brought back the old days of the arena and the possible contest between a bear and a tiger.

Members of the House may receive first-hand information as to the manner in which a metropolitan Police Department should be run," Miller is invited to appear "at his convenience."

"I make the clothes," replied Bena. "Madden and Satterfield sell them. Ask them—they know," and he retreated to the shop.

Satterfield resides at 1110 North Market street, Madden at 5134 Easton avenue, and Bena at 933 Catalpa street. The three agreed that the boy, Joseph Bena, was merely employed as a tailor. The facts in the case are to be presented to the grand jury.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 28.—The House of Representatives today, by a vote of 58 to 19, adopted an ironical resolution introduced by Representative Davidson of St. Louis, inviting Victor J. Miller, president of the St. Louis Police Board, to come here and address the House.

The resolution states that "because of his vigorous, energetic, courageous, fearless and pompous management of the Police Department, it has elicited a great deal of favorable and unfavorable comment."

TRIAL OF MRS. KABER FOR MURDER BEGINS

Judge Overrules Motion by Defense to Annul Jury Panel Including Five Women.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., June 28.—Eva Catherine Kaber, charged with having plotted the assassination of her husband, Daniel F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood (O.) publisher, was today formally placed on trial in Judge Maurice Bernon's court. She is under indictment for first degree murder, which carries the death penalty in this State.

Mrs. Kaber was brought into the courtroom at 10 o'clock and seated beside her counsel, Francis W. Poulson, William J. Corrigan and Samuel S. Kest.

Mrs. Kaber looked neither to the right nor to the left as she entered the small, crowded room. She wore a black tailored suit and blue hat, with black plumes and blue gloves. She immediately assumed a posture with her chin resting in her right hand, the elbow resting on the arm of the chair. She looked straight forward at the floor.

The halls and corridors of the courthouse were filled and the crowd in front of the building had increased to more than a thousand before Mrs. Kaber appeared, and police kept them from rushing the courtroom, admission to which was gained by card only. Less than 50 persons other than newspaper correspondents and court officials were admitted.

Attorney Poulson immediately submitted a motion to annul a special panel of 42 prospective jurors, five of whom were women, on the ground that women were barred by the State Constitution from sitting as jurors. Judge Bernon overruled the motion. The defense objected to women on the jury, one of Mrs. Kaber's attorneys said, because they were "hard hearted and cruel." The prosecution favored the employment of women jurors.

SPYROS SKOURAS TO BE MARRIED

Began as Hotel Busboy, Now Heads
Large Movie Theater Interest.
The marriage of Spyros Skouras, president of moving picture theaters, and Miss Sarah K. Bruggia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Bruggia of 5975A Etzel avenue, will take place tomorrow. A marriage license was issued yesterday.

Skouras has made his home at the Etzel avenue address. He and his bride will occupy a house at 6623 University drive. Skouras and his brother, Charles, former hotel busboys here, have for more than a year past controlled a chain of theaters including the New Grand Central, the Lyric and the Paganini.

Skouras and his brother, Charles, former hotel busboys here, have for more than a year past controlled a chain of theaters including the New Grand Central, the Lyric and the Paganini.

The neighbors say they have not noticed any electricity in their houses except what they pay for. The men at the booster station decline to discuss the matter beyond a general intimation that they are not shooting electricity into Mrs. Crowley's house.

ZORK WILL APPEAR FOR BASEBALL TRIAL

Will Go to Chicago With Physicians for Series Case—Franklin Still Sick.

Carl Zork, president of the Supreme Waist Co., living at the Washington Hotel, will depart for Chicago tonight, accompanied by a physician, to appear tomorrow as a defendant in the trial of 18 men on charges of complicity in "throwing" the 1919 world's series. Zork has been suffering from a nervous disorder, but it was said today at the office of his lawyer, A. M. Frumberg, that it was thought best that he should attempt to appear for trial.

Ben Franklin of 740 Interdrive, another defendant in the same case, is confined to his bed with arthritic rheumatism, it was said at the lawyer's office, and will not go to Chicago. Zork and Franklin are alleged to have been interested in betting on the series.

A special representative of the State's Attorney's office in Chicago was in St. Louis today to investigate the illness of Zork and Franklin. A dispatch from Chicago said that the State's Attorney's office intended to learn whether the men were able to go there for trial, and if so, to ask for a bond for their case of their nonappearance. It was said the presence of the St. Louis men was necessary to the progress of the cases.

Dr. Gorin Is Franklin's Physician, and Not Zork's, as Was Stated.
In yesterday's Post-Dispatch it was erroneously stated in a Chicago dispatch that Dr. George Gorin, 5249 Raymond avenue, filed an affidavit of illness for Zork, and that Dr. Lurin F. Macklin filed a similar affidavit for Franklin. This was not the case. Dr. Gorin's affidavit was filed for Franklin and Dr. Macklin's affidavit was filed for Zork. Franklin, and not Zork, as published, was said to be suffering from arthritic rheumatism. The affidavit for Zork said he was suffering from neurasthenia. Zork, who lives at the Washington Hotel, could not be reached for a statement today. His wife repeated a statement she made yesterday that he was too ill to leave his bed.

COMET DEFINITELY POSTPONES
ITS VISIT TO THIS REGION

Father Brennan Hopes It Will Be More Satisfactory Return
Six Years Hence.

With clear skies last night, and a good opening for a fireworks exhibition in the northeast, the tail of the Pons-Winnecke comet went sailing off in invisible space without furnishing the spark shower which had been expected by astronomers.

Father M. S. Brennan, St. Louis astronomer-priest, had announced yesterday that he gave "it" up after the failure to see anything today night. But a faint remnant of hope kept him watching at intervals until about 2 a. m. today.

"There is nothing further to expect now," he said this morning. "This comet has gone off on its orbit, but it will be back in a little less than six years, and maybe it will be more sociable then."

That overwhelming freight charge to begin with—their managers and office force, their cooler salesman, their city salesman, and that tremendous delivery and automobile expense! Who pays for it? YOU DO! Our side of the story: First, our overhead expense is no greater today than it was before we conducted our packing establishment; our expense of transporting live cattle from East St. Louis Stock Yards averages

PARADE OF LANTERNS TO FEATURE "SAN TOY"

Municipal Opera Opens Fourth Week Tonight With Rhoda Nickells in Title Role.

A parade of lanterns in celebration of the Chinese "Festival of the Full Moon" will be one of the scenic features of "San Toy," with which the Municipal Opera Company is to open its fourth week tonight at the open-air theater in Forest Park. Miss Rhoda Nickells has the title role, and the feminine part of second importance, that of Dudley, an English maid, is entrusted to Miss Elva Magnus, a St. Louis member of the chorus. Comedy parts are given to Frank Moulton, Harry Herman and Charles E. Gallagher. J. Humbird Duffey is a venerable Chinese student. James Stevens is an English naval captain, and Miss Katherine Gallagher is his sister.

So many changes have been made in the order of the musical numbers, as they occur in the score, that it will be useful to enumerate them as they now stand:

First Act—Opening chorus, "We'll Keep the Feast in Peking Pong," quintet and chorus, "The Mandarin," song, "A Poem From Over the Sea," Miss Gallagher, song, "Six Little Wives," Gallagher and six members of the chorus, song, "It's Nice to Be a Boy Sometimes," Miss Nickells; duet, "A B. C.," Miss Nickells and Stevens, song, "The Lady's Maid," Miss Magnus and Moulton; chorus, "The Moon," quartet, "Peking Pong," Miss Gallagher, Miss Magnus, William Simmons and Moulton; song, "Love Has Come From Lotus Land," Stevens, duet, "When You Are Wed to Me," Miss Nickells and Duffey; duet, "Same Game," Miss Magnus and Moulton; and finale, "We Have Come Here Now." Second Act—Chorus of Mandarin, "We're the Queen of Courtly Creatures," concerted number and dance, "We Have Come to See," song, "Rhoda and Her Pagoda," Miss Magnus; chorus, "The Emperor's Own," song, "Somebody," Miss Nickells; duet dance, Miss Florence Du Bar and John Fox; song, "I Mean to Introduce It Into China," Gallagher; duet, "Pretty Little Chinese," Miss Magnus and Moulton; duet, "The Little China Maid," Miss Nickells and Stevens; song, "Chinese Song Man," Moulton; and finale, "Vain Was the Fond Endeavor." A dress rehearsal of the musical numbers was held last night at the Municipal Theater. In addition to Miss Magnus, nine other local members of the chorus have parts in the production.

PAVING OF ST. CHARLES ROAD MAY BE COMPLETED BY OCT. 1

Judges of the St. Louis County Court today said it was expected that the paving of the St. Charles Road, between St. Louis and St. Charles, would be completed by Oct. 1, though excessive rains between now and that time might delay the work.

Automobiles will welcome the completion of the road, as under present conditions the dirt road detours now used are impassable when it rains, causing many automobiles bound for St. Louis to leave their machines in St. Charles and come to St. Louis by trolley.

It has been suggested by automobilists that St. Charles could be reached in any weather by detouring from the Natural Bridge road over the Fee Fee road to the Missouri Bottom road if the Fee Fee and Missouri Bottom roads were oiled. County Court Judges Shields and Wiethaupt said no public funds were available for the oiling of the roads, and the oiling could be done only if property owners along the roads. No movement to raise such a fund would raise a fund for the purpose, has been started.

"To Build Public Confidence Eliminate Comparative Prices"

The Associated Retail Advertisers

in Convention at Atlanta, Georgia, made a clear declaration of principles which have a decided bearing upon the economic distribution of merchandise, assuring to the public dependable goods, intelligently presented and honestly advertised.

Progress in this direction can only be made if the public expresses a degree of interest, analyzes carefully the retailing and advertising situation, and brings the influence of its opinion to bear upon retail business.

The platform, among other things, recommended—

"That honesty in goods be put above price, that service and satisfaction be put first and price second; that retailers devote their efforts to exploiting the goods rather than their cost.

"That the reconstruction of advertising and sales policies be undertaken at once to build public confidence by the gradual elimination of comparative prices."

It was the opinion of the majority that the noncomparative price policy would logically bring about the proposed situation—since it was a fundamental that would compel retail stores to secure business by means of performances rather than extravagant promises.

It is highly gratifying to us, and, we hope, to our patrons as well, to know that this same policy of noncomparative prices was introduced into this institution many years ago, and since followed with a high degree of satisfaction to all concerned.

That we may win the entire confidence of our public through a sincere and truthful statement of fact has been and shall continue to be the dominant principle of our advertising. According to our conclusion, this could be done only through the elimination of comparative prices. That this policy will be the general advertising policy of the future is indicated by the action of the recent Convention and the leading retail establishments in other cities who have embraced these principles.

Laundry Work Is a Fine Art

The combination of science and of a practical and detailed knowledge of electrical design has produced a machine—an Electrical Washer, which surpasses the most skillful of hand laundering with practically no expenditure of physical effort.

The 1900 Cataract Washer, because of its figure 8 construction, swishes the water back and forth through the clothes four times oftener than ordinarily occurs.

Everything works electrically. There is nothing to cause wear and tear to clothes, no parts to lift out and be cleaned.

We will deliver a 1900 Cataract Electric Washer to your home and you may try it for yourself. Then when you have seen what it will do, start paying for it on terms to suit your convenience. (Fifth Floor.)

BURGLAR SURPRISED IN HOUSE FLEES BAREFOOT

Vaults Fence and Escapes—Jewelry Valued at $225 Taken From Two Other Homes.

Mrs. Fjora Gill of 2344 Madison street, awakened at 4 o'clock this morning by someone stumbling against a chair, discovered a burglar in her room. As she switched on a light, the burglar fled to the kitchen and Mrs. Gill observed that he was barefooted. She screamed, and her husband, Bert Gill, who was sleeping in an adjoining room, ran after the burglar, but the latter had vaulted the backyard fence and escaped. Entrance had been effected by cutting the kitchen door screen. Nothing was taken.

Jewelry Stolen From Two Homes—Raised $1 Bill Passed.

A scarfpin valued at $100 and $12 in money were stolen yesterday afternoon from the home of Baarent Ten Brook, 4278 Lindell boulevard. Jewelry valued at $125 was stolen in the afternoon from the home of John J. Rode, 2420 Cabanne avenue. Charles J. Edz, who conducts a store at 1318 South Broadway, discovered when he took his day's receipts to the Cash Avenue Bank yesterday afternoon that he had taken in a $1 bill which had been raised to a $10 bill. The figure 10 had been pasted over the figure 1 so skillfully that Edz had not observed the trick until his attention was called to it by one of the bank tellers.

A leather bag containing business papers and clothing, which was found at 4 a. m. today in an alley south of Chestnut street, between Eighth and Ninth streets, was identified as having been stolen at noon yesterday from the automobile of C. W. Stowell, 5717 Kingsbury boulevard, while the machine was parked in front of 412 Washington avenue.

Lewis S. Haslam of 5401 Kingsbury court, treasurer of the Simmons Hardware Co., informed the police that a wallet containing $35 was stolen in the afternoon from his coat in a Pullman car as he was nearing St. Louis on a Pennsylvania train from the East. He said he had left the coat hanging in his seat while he stepped into the washroom.

NEW ELECTRIC LIGHTS HAVE COST $598,578

3400 With Concrete Poles Have Been Put in Operation—Balance of $416,421 in Fund.

Director of Public Utilities Hooke has issued a detailed statement of the cost of making and installing the concrete lighting poles and installation of the accompanying wiring in the parks and outlying districts. A large amount of this work has been completed. There was an item of $1,000,000 for the lights in the bond issue of two years or more ago and the city appropriated $15,000 in addition.

The statement shows that $598,578.73 has been used so far for the work. About 3800 poles have been made, which is nearly all required for the work as originally planned. About 3400 poles have been installed, and their lights put in operation. These lights replaced naphtha lamps. The installation of the poles now in operation cost $436,916.37.

The balance of the lighting fund amounts to $416,421.23, and with this Director Hooke expects to install electric lights in certain downtown and other districts. The central downtown district is now equipped with electric arc lights. The concrete poles were manufactured at the municipal docks under the direction of Supt. W. A. Smith at an average cost of $125.84 each. Citizens have been so pleased with the lights in the park that they have asked for similar lights in various neighborhoods, expressing willingness to pay the cost. These requests are being considered.

He Was Called "A Loafer"!

But He Was Sick. Thousands Are Sick But Get No Sympathy or Help Because They Are Not Bedfast.

A healthy man or woman simply cannot loaf. When you lack energy and vitality, you don't feel like working. All the organs and glands of your body are sluggish. You are not keen for either pleasure or work. You get a plenty perhaps, but your stomach and digestive organs do not build up your strength. Disipation is one form or another—grief, worry, or overwork—may have caused your trouble. Nature needs the help that Cadomene tablets will afford anyone suffering with that tired feeling, nervous indigestion, with nervous headaches, body pains, restlessness, sleeplessness, despondency, lack of energy, etc. Try taking Cadomene tablets instead of using strong stimulants like whiskey or wine. Cadomene will give appetite, aid indigestion, enrich your blood with iron and phosphorus, strengthen your nerves and make of you a real live, healthy, energetic person, full of high spirits. All good druggists can supply Cadomene tablets.

ABSENCE OF WARRANT NULLIFIES LIQUOR CASE

Saloon Keeper Discharged When Commissioner Learns Agent Seized Whisky Without Document.

Enrico Massone, a saloon keeper at 4944 Delmar boulevard, charged with violating the Volstead act, was discharged by United States Commissioner Mitchell at a preliminary hearing yesterday on the ground that Federal Prohibition Enforcement Officer Burke had no right to take a bottle of whisky from a closed cabinet in the saloon without a search warrant.

This was in line with a recent decision by Judge Paris that a search warrant is necessary to search a saloon icebox or other inclosed compartment in a saloon.

Burke testified that Massone had a cabinet built into the back bar. He said he entered the saloon April 17, last, and told Massone he was going to search for whisky, and Massone warned him not to go behind the bar without a warrant. Ignoring this warning, he said, he opened the cabinet and seized a quart bottle of whisky.

Massone, in April, 1920, was fined $100 on his plea of guilty to a charge of having whisky in his possession illegally.

Edwin T. Stanard Pursues Men Who Stole Machine Belonging to Stephen S. Eagle.

Edwin T. Stanard, of 4512 West Pine boulevard, vice president of the Stanard-Tilton Milling Co., yesterday visited police headquarters and told Detective Chief Hoagland how he saved his own automobile from thieves and recovered a machine that had been stolen from Stephen S. Eagle of 4951 West Pine boulevard, Sunday afternoon.

Stanard said he had left his car standing in front of his home. Mrs. Stanard looked from an upper front window and saw another machine stop in the middle of the street. Two men were in it. One alighted and got into Stanard's machine. Stanard ran out the front door. The man jumped from Stanard's machine and ran back to the one which stood in the middle of the street and which Stanard recognized as Eagle's car. The automobile thieves drove east. Stanard got into his machine and pursued them east to Sarah street, south to Forest Park boulevard and east to Vandeventer avenue, where the two men jumped out of Eagle's car and escaped through a yard. Eagle's car had been stolen from in front of his home a few minutes before the attempt was made to steal Stanard's.

LARGER MUSEUM OF NATURAL HISTORY URGED FOR ST. LOUIS

Otto Widman, Ornithologist, Thinks Institution Could Be Supported by Tax.

Otto Widman, of 5105 Enright avenue, one of the leading ornithologists in Missouri and in honor of whose eightieth birthday a banquet was tendered last Saturday night by the St. Louis Naturalists' Club, favors a larger museum of natural history for St. Louis.

The present museum at Shaw's Garden, he explained, was started about four years ago largely through the efforts and expense of private enterprise, and, although it has grown somewhat it is far from being complete and cannot be compared to similar museums in other cities throughout the country.

Widman pointed out that the Forest Park Zoo and public library are maintained by tax, and suggests that a greater museum of natural history be established by this means which will compare favorably with any in the country.

Joseph A. Fletcher of Altoona, Pa.; C. A. Shamel of Gibson City, Ill.; and W. Bradie Jones of Warrenton, N. They left New York June 2, looping south through North Carolina and Tennessee and up through Kentucky. They will visit Kansas City, Denver, the Yellowstone Park and Los Angeles, and expect to be back in New York by Sept. 25.

MAN CARRYING LIQUOR HELD

Steve Tattich Jr., 35, of 2512 South Eighth street, carrying a sack on his shoulder, was stopped by the police at 1 a. m. today near Kosciuszko and President streets. The sack was found to contain two half-gallon jugs said to be filled with whisky. Tattich at first said he had bought the liquor from a man in a launch at the river and President street last Saturday, paying $28 for the two jugs.

Later he said he had obtained the whisky from his father, Steve Sr., 63 years old, of 2541 South Main street. The father helped the police fish out a jug containing two gallons of whisky from a pond in the rear of his home and also turned over to the police a still that had been buried under the flooring of a shed in the yard. The son was released, but the father was released.

DISABLED VETERANS OF WAR IN CONVENTION

Men Making Records Under Handicap, Their Leader Says at Detroit; Need of Aid Pointed Out.

By the Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., June 28.—The supreme object of the disabled American veterans of the world war is to inspire in its members a determination to come back and to take their places in the nation as self-supporting and independent citizens, Judge Robert S. Marx of Cincinnati, national president, told the veterans at the opening session today of the first annual convention.

"It is a glorious thing to know that our undertaking is succeeding," Judge Marx said. "From every hand we hear records of men who have surmounted their physical handicaps and taken their places in society. Wounded and disabled men of America today are winning a greater victory over the Kaiser than did the army of Pershing."

The war has been over nearly three years and there still is an urgent need for more than 10,000 suitable beds for sick and disabled service men.

"When wounded were lying on the field of battle there was no real man who would not gladly have risked his life to carry them to a first aid station, yet tuberculosis and mental cases today are lying virtually where they were left on the field of battle, and neither the men, the means, nor the hospitals are available to rescue them."

Judge Marx declared the organization represented more than half a million wounded or disabled service men.

Opposes Bonus if Care of Disabled Men Is Jeopardized.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—Opposition to the soldier bonus bill, if it jeopardizes adequate care of disabled veterans, was expressed yesterday by George H. Gillan, national commander of the National Disabled Soldiers' League, in opening a four-day convention of the organization here. Nearly 650,000 "war casualties" are in need of care, he said, adding that in 10 years the number would reach a million.

John T. Nolen, chairman of the Legislative Committee, said the cash bonus plan probably would be detrimental to disabled men.

The league delegates will parade to the Capitol tomorrow to impress their needs on Congress.

Charge of 'Wooden Heads' Against Vocational Board.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—The Federal Board for Vocational Education came in for criticism yesterday by members of the Senate committee investigating Government activities dealing with former service men.

"There seems to be a lot of wooden pegs with wooden heads directing its affairs," Senator Pomeroy, Democrat, Ohio, declared, while Senator Sutherland, Republican, West Virginia, said the trouble seemed to be due to "a bureaucratic system."

The contract schools established by the board were particularly criticized by Senator Walsh, Democrat, Massachusetts.

The committee showed interest in the testimony of Miss Sadie Maple, formerly a teacher in the army hospital at Baltimore. She charged that the board ordered training not desired by the men, and for which, in many instances, they were not qualified.

MRS. HANPETER DENIES SHE TRIED TO END HUSBAND'S LIFE

Defendant in Divorce Suit Says She Once Turned on Gas Intending to Kill Himself.

Mrs. Ruth Hanpeter, daughter of John H. Gundlach, realty operator and former president of the old City Council, whose husband, Armin F. Hanpeter, 3215 Palm street, is suing for divorce, denies in a deposition that she turned on the gas in their home one night for the purpose of ending her husband's life. She explained that once after they had a disagreement, she did turn on the gas with the intention of ending her own life. She denied saying to her husband that they were "going to sleep forever."

This incident took place on the night of May 5, 1920. Hanpeter, his wife testified, left the house and returned the next day to obtain several articles belonging to him. They have been separated ever since. Their marriage took place Oct. 15, 1919.

In his petition the plaintiff avers that the defendant rendered his condition intolerable and endangered his life. His wife charges that he was penniless and she says in her deposition that he took her to places of amusement on three different occasions after their return from the wedding trip.

She admitted on cross-examination that she put frankfurters on the table for her husband's meal after the laundress had refused to eat them. The laundress demanded beefsteak, Hanpeter's deposition also was taken and he was asked about this incident. He said he did not care for frankfurters.

GIVES 'YANK' MITTEN, SUES HER ENGLISHMAN
Miss Honoria Mary Maud O'Shaughnessy's Affair With Capt. Hubert Christopher Hatton-Hall Aired.
Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
LONDON, June 2.—Letters in which there was "a good deal of rather bad language," and an unusual defense were the outstanding features of an action for breach of promise of marriage in the King's Court recently, in which Miss Honoria Mary Maud O'Shaughnessy, whose parents live at Teignmouth, sued Capt. Hubert Christopher Hatton-Hall of the Junior Naval and Military Club, Piccadilly.
Capt. Hatton-Hall admitted the promise, but said that he never repudiated it, and that it was subject to two conditions. One was that Miss O'Shaughnessy should cease to communicate with Lieut. Hall of the United States Naval Air Service, and the second was that his father should consent to the marriage.
The plaintiff's attorney said that in 1919 Miss O'Shaughnessy, now 21, was engaged to an American of considerable wealth. Capt. Hatton-Hall came along and persuaded her to break off the engagement and become engaged to him. Capt. Hatton-Hall was attached to a British garrison in the Army of Occupation on the Rhine. He wrote to the girl's mother and received a satisfactory reply. The mother informed Capt. Hatton-Hall that the American was coming back after Christmas, and that perhaps it would be a good thing if he married her daughter before the American arrived.
Trip to London.
Capt. Hatton-Hall sent a telegram a little later, and Miss O'Shaughnessy met him in London. When they met both thought better of a suggestion that they should marry secretly, and resolved to be married in the proper way. Miss O'Shaughnessy's visit to London became known in Devonshire, after which there was a scandal, it was said. Capt. Hatton-Hall agreed that the engagement should be announced in the newspapers, and the marriage was fixed provisionally for the middle of November.
The attorney said that he proposed to read a number of letters which had passed between the parties. They were of the usual affectionate nature, and in them, there was a good deal of rather bad language. He thought, however, it would be agreed that there was nothing vicious; it was merely foolish and silly.
Capt. Hatton-Hall wrote in one letter:
"I have quite made up my mind to marry you, darling, so if it cannot be managed properly it must be done improperly. I have come to the decision that if there was any chance of things becoming difficult I should get special leave home. We would be married by special license, and then snap our fingers at everyone. Are you game, darling? You need not be away for more than 36 hours."
"We could have a proper slap-up show later on. Until then we should be just the same as before. We should be just lovers. You are the only star in my firmament at present, sweet girl, and it has just got to keep shining."
"One Up With the Yank."
Miss O'Shaughnessy wrote in one of her letters:
"I think it would be better if you were to write to the missis (her mother) and explain things. You would then be one up with the Yank."
Capt. Hatton-Hall, writing later, said:
"I have a sort of foreboding that we shall have to cut and run for it. It will be great fun, won't it? The stolen fruit theory would certainly operate then, and I am sure it would taste sweeter than any Adam's apple."
The letter which the attorney said, was the refusal to marry arrived on Nov. 3.
Capt. Hatton-Hall wrote: "Our temperaments are entirely different. * * * Marriage therefore would be a mere folly. * * * and it would be a sorry thing for us to be married and then realize afterwards we had made a mistake. * * * I have done my best and my promise have been honest. * * * I realize that it was foolish to turn a short summer engagement into a pukka engagement. * * * I now ask you, dear girl, to release me from it all."
Miss O'Shaughnessy, giving evidence, said that when Capt. Hatton-Hall proposed to her he never said the marriage would depend on his father's consent.
Miss O'Shaughnessy said that she now had an allowance of $20 a month from her parents under a deed by which she agreed not to see them.
On cross-examination she was asked: "Was the American a married man?"
"He was divorced."
An attorney read several extracts from Miss O'Shaughnessy to Capt. Hatton-Hall. In one letter she stated:
"I have been just as miserable as hell the whole day. Every damned thing that can go wrong has done so."
She was asked: "Were you fond of this Yank?"
"Yes."
An attorney then said: "Capt. Hatton-Hall wrote: 'I am not going to risk losing you for any damned Yank with a pocketful of dollars.' Your attitude to him was that either he married you quickly or you would have the dollars and the Yank?"
"He had that idea."
There was read a letter to Capt.

SELPH REFUSES TO ANSWER QUESTIONS CONCERNING OFFICE

Hearing in $40,000 Suit Filed Against Postmaster by Discharged Carrier Continued.

Postmaster Selph yesterday refused to answer any questions touching upon the affairs of his office,
and consequently the taking of depositions in the $40,000 damage suit of Peter Wiegand, a discharged letter carrier, against Selph, was interrupted. Wiegand charges Selph with slandering him and causing him loss of livelihood.

Wiegand shot and slightly wounded
Thomas Montgomery, a 12-year-old boy, who, with other boys, were running away after placing a comic valentine under the door of Wiegand's home, 2442 Montgomery street, Feb.
14 last. The following day, Wiegand alleges, Postmaster Selph called him into his office, accused him of "willfully and maliciously shooting an innocent boy," and forthwith sent a respond in Washington that resulted in Wiegand's dismissal. He had been in the service many years.

When Wiegand's attorney yesterday attempted to question Selph about what happened, he said: "I want you gentlemen to understand that I am a Government official, and I know the law covering this case. I will answer no questions about official business." The hearing was then continued to 2 p. m. Friday.

GIRL TO WED STEPFATHER, WHO KEEPS VOW TO HER MOTHER

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 23.—A vow at her mother's deathbed led to the unusual romance that will culminate
in the marriage of Miss Isabelle Gordon to her stepfather, Alexander
Taylor, at their home in Richmond
Hill, L. I., next Thursday. Miss Gordon is 21 years old and her stepfather is 35.

Ten years ago Taylor married Mrs.
Grace Gordon, a widow. Although but a child, Isabelle refused to look upon Taylor as her father. She always called him by his first name,
and it was not until after her mother's death that she called him "Dad."
Her mother's dying request was that Taylor should always take care of Isabelle and never become separated from her as long as he lived.
This he promised. In their bereavement the couple sought solace in each other's company, and soon they became warmly attached to each other. Together they sought counsel of Miss Gordon's grandmother, Mrs.
Elizabeth Wheeler, who occupies the adjoining cottage. Mrs. Wheeler readily consented to the wedding.

PESKY BED BUGS

Bedbugs are an average of seven years per day. Under favorable conditions they hatch in five days, of which two days are females. They mature to adult size and are capable of laying in four weeks. How many bedbugs would you have in a year if you left one female of bed bug undisturbed for one year?
To rid the pesky bedbug, you can readily
see how necessary it is to use a bedbug poison that will kill the eggs as well as the live ones. F. D. Q. has been demon-

Thayer, of Nahant and Boston, and Prince Michael Cantacuzene, great-grandson of President Grant and a member of the old Russian nobility, took place.

The first marriage ceremony, in accordance with the Russian Orthodox rite, took place Sunday afternoon in the Little Greek Catholic church on Dearborn street, Roxbury, by the Rev. J. E. Grigoroff, rector, officiating.

The ritual of the Protestant Episcopal church was used at this afternoon's ceremony, at which the Rev. Wm. J. Thayer, head master of St. Mark's School, in Southboro, officiated.

Dairies, However, Will Not Increase Retail Figure in July.

The Milk Committee of the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association and the St. Louis milk distributors, at a conference yesterday in the headquarters of the association in East St. Louis, agreed upon the price the distributors will pay for milk during July, which will be $1.69 1/4 per 100 pounds at receiving stations, and 19 1/2 cents a gallon delivered at the railroad station in St. Louis. The June price is $1.53 per 100 pounds and 17 cents a gallon. The increased price includes 30 cents per 100 pounds bonus which the distributors pay the producers to stimulate production.

D. C. Kerckhoff, president of the Pevely Dairy Co., said there would be no change in the retail price, the distributors absorbing the increase. The present retail price is 7 cents a pint and 13 cents a quart.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 10.—The organization of the dirt road attempt to defeat the surfaced road program submission under the November, 1932, election amendment to the 1920 Missouri constitution of the state to divert a portion of the license fees to a fund for bridging dirt roads, today in a statement to Missouri Farmers Association which William Hirth of the organization and head.

In the statement Hirth for the directors of the Highway Commission, which he says members of the State definite opposition to the plan of 6000 miles is set demand made that the of the State be expen "farm-to-market dirt road."

"We beg to remind the of the legislature," Hirth statement, "that in this difficult problem that arrived at the 'cross roads' must choose, upon which the farmer on the one hand and the State on the other, with the available funds, and that the choice special session makes in will vital affect the final destiny of the country many years to come.

Plan to Use License Fees

To this end, we suggest the suspension of the surface provision of chapter 6—that instead of the proposed system of 6000 miles of surfaced roads, which at directly benefit more than throughout the State, Missouri the matter be permitted it stands until the sentimentality of the legislature the organized farmers may endeavor to the legislature at chapter 6 at the next year as will devote a substantial of the yearly automobile to the grading, draining of the main farm to market throughout the State, or not we shall be the enactment of such to the existing amendment remains to be seen. At the Assembly at this time of the legislature, if successful, then we will sent to the hard-surfaced county seat system, as may appeal to the legislature in the days to the time being, however, that the "farm to market" should have first claim that the broad interest are and will ever be most in the adoption of the most policy of improvement and construction."

"It is our understanding is available in the State of the sum of $4,318,212 for the next year this amount augmented by at least more to automobile license making a total of more than $4,800,000 and that the legislature, if successful, be instructed to State highway commission three to five members a commission be authorized a capable State highway commission be authorized that the greater part of be required for the maintenance and the adoption policies and that therefore, when made available, such conditions as will such to prevent will money as can be realized until another session of there shall be at hand."

FARMERS' PLAN TO BEAT HARD ROAD PROJECT REVEALED

Organization Suggests Let-

Pending Election on Fund for Dirt Roads.

WOULD USE PART OF AUTO LICENSE MONEY

"Agriculture's Road Needs Paramount," Head of Organization Says; "Choice Must Be Made."

From a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.
JEFFERSON CITY, June 28.—A scheme of the dirt road advocates to attempt to defeat the State hard-road program through the submission under the initiative at the November, 1922, election of an amendment to the $60,000,000 bond
law provision of the Constitution to divert a portion of the automobile license fees to a fund for dragging and bridging dirt roads, was revealed today in a statement issued by the Missouri Farmers' Association, of which William Hirth of Columbia is the organizer and head.

In the statement prepared by Hirth for the directors and members of the Highway Committee of the association, which, he says, has 70,000 members in the State, a position of definite opposition to a State system of 6000 miles is set out, and the demand made that the road money
of the State be expended on the "farm-to-market dirt roads."

"We beg to remind the members of the Legislature," Hirth says in the statement, "that in the solution of this difficult problem they have arrived at the 'cross roads' where they must choose, once for all, between the farmer on the one hand and the urban on the other—that they cannot
with the available funds, serve both, and that the choice which the special session makes in these premises will vitally affect the agricultural destiny of the commonwealth
for many years to come.

"Plan to Use Initiative.
To this end, we suggest a complete suspension of the present hard-road provisions of amendment
number 6—that instead of adopting the proposed inter-county road system of 6000 miles of hard-surfaced roads, which at best would not directly benefit more than 20 per cent of the 275,000 farmers of Missouri, the matter be permitted to rest
where it stands, until through the instrumentality of the initiative petition, the organized farmers of the State may endeavor to procure such modification of amendment number 6 at the next general election
as will devote a substantial portion of the yearly automobile license fee
to the grading, draining and bridging
of the main 'farm to market' roads throughout the State. As to whether or not we shall be able to procure the enactment of such modifications
to the existing amendment, of course remains to be seen. All we ask of the Assembly at this time is the opportunity to try. And if we shall be successful, then we will gladly concede to the hard-surfacing of an inter-county seat system or any other connected system of such highways
as may appeal to the wisdom of the Assembly in the days to come. For some time being, however, we feel that the 'farm to market' road
should have first consideration—
that the broad interests of agriculture are and will ever remain paramount in the adoption of any permanent policy of highway improvement and construction in this State
$4,518,213 in Treasury.

"It is our understanding that there is available in the State Treasury at this time the sum of $4,518,213.14 for road building purposes, while during the next year this amount will be augmented by at least $2,000,000
from automobile license fees—
making a total sum of between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000.
Therefore, we suggest that the Governor be instructed to appoint a State Highway commission of from three to five members and that such commission be authorized to employ a capable State highway engineer,
this having been done, we believe that the greater part of a year will be required for the said commission
to go through the process of organization and the adoption of plans and specifications and that therefore the above sum, when made available under such conditions as the Assembly may see fit to prescribe, will be as much money as can be intelligently spent until another session of the Legislature shall be at hand."

"World's Greatest Electrical Project" on Colorado River

Mighty Conception to Provide Current for Southwest Involves Ultimate Investment of $800,000,000.

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., June 27.—
The "world's greatest electrical project" is the phrase used by some engineers, in describing the plans of the Southern California Edison Co. for impounding the waters of the Colorado River and developing hydroelectric power on a huge scale for distribution over a wide area of the Southwest.

Edwin O. Edgerton, special counsel for the corporation and formerly president of the California State Railroad Commission, stated the project ultimately would involve possibly $800,000,000, or twice as much as was spent on the Panama Canal.
Applications for permission to impound the waters of the river have been accepted for filing from the company by the Federal Power Commission and the Arizona Water Commission. It is expected similar applications will be filed with corresponding commissions in other Southwestern states.

To Generate 2 to 4 Million Horsepower.
Generators of a peak load of 4-350,000-horsepower and an annual average load of 2,600,000-horsepower
from four developments projects
along the river will be possible, it is stated, if the stream flow is controlled by the first of the four—
a 500-foot dam planned for the head of Glen Canyon, Ariz.
At that point, it is stated, the main dam would create a lake 200 miles long, extending backward from the Colorado to the mouth of the Fremont River. From this point, the river descends in 400 miles from 3200 feet above sea level to 500 feet above sea level, a fall of 2800 feet.
To this 2800 feet is added the 500
feet of the dam itself, giving a gross

No. 6 is issued by the present special session, but that the forthcoming State highway commission be authorized to use the available funds
during the next year and a half in the grading, draining and bridging
of leading 'farm to market' dirt roads, confining such improvement to roads which might later on become part of an inter-county seat system.

"Not only do we oppose the insistence by the present special session, but in order that millions of dollars in interest may be saved to the taxpayers of the State in the years to come, we will recommend a change in policy to future assemblies
and should this course be pursued it will make little difference whether the amendment with reference to the item of interest prevails in the special election in August or not. In other words, we believe that the proposed State highway commission should adjust its plans of construction and improvement to the automobile license fees as they become available in the State Treasury and that the same policy should be adopted with reference to Federal aid
—in short, that we should 'pay as we go.'

Would Let Legislation Wait.
"We recommend that the assembly take definite steps to the end that the automobile license fees and other road taxes may be distributed on some fair basis between the different counties of the State and, failing to arrive at a specific conclusion in these premises we suggest that in any event the matter
be left subject to review by future assemblies.

"We recommend that the proposed State Highway Commission be required to provide an adequate maintenance fund for both dirt and hard surfaced roads out of the yearly road funds.

"We recommend that the special session, before reaching the hour of adjournment, address a resolution to the Missouri delegation in Congress, protesting against the passage of the Townsend bill which seeks to divert the Federal road-building funds to the construction of so-called military roads and coupling the said protest with the demand that such funds be preserved for the post roads of the nation, as originally intended.

BRITAIN ANNOUNCES SETTLEMENT OF COAL MINE STRIKE

Lloyd George Is Expected to Ask This Afternoon for 10-Million-Pound Subsidy for Industry.

RESUMPTION OF WORK MONDAY

Subsidy Was Offered Previously by Government, and Proffer Later Withdrawn.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 28.—The British coal mine strike, which has been in progress since April 1, has been settled. It was officially announced this afternoon.
It is understood that Lloyd George,
the Prime Minister, will ask Parliament this afternoon to authorize the granting of a 10,000,000-pound subsidy to the mining industry. The miners will resume work generally next Monday if the subsidy is granted.
The Government offered this subsidy several weeks ago, but withdrew it.
Settlement of the coal dispute will end one of the greatest and most prolonged labor difficulties Great Britain ever faced. Nearly 1,000,000 miners were directly affected.
The coal strike threatened at one time during its three-month course to bring about the gravest industrial upheaval in British history when the Triple Alliance of 4,000,000 miners, miners, railway men and transport workers, seemed on the verge of going out in aid of the miners' cause.

COL. HARVEY DELIVERS A PLACID SPEECH

Ambassador at Dinner to Polo Players Intimates Clean Sportsmanship Is a Fine Thing.

Special Cable to the New York World and the Post-Dispatch.
(Copyright, 1921.)
LONDON, June 27.—Ambassador
Harvey touched again on the subject of America's participation in the war
at a dinner given to the American polo players Saturday night. Then, according to the London Times, he said:
"America came pretty late, perhaps, but when she did come she came pretty well. Some are extremely regretful that she did not come sooner, but that is ancient history."
The dinner was given by The Field,
the editor of which, Sir Theodore Cook, presided. Lord Haig and the English polo team were among the guests.
Ambassador Harvey said in part:
"Americans are sorry the English
lost, but they are glad their own team
won. It has been a glorious defeat, but it is also a glorious victory and therefore everybody is happy."
"A fact you must recognize as you go along is one recognized by all men who live active lives—that it is idle
to indulge in hypocrisy. The Americans who fought this battle fought for their country, and they fought for the same reason. They were resisted in the same spirit. It was back-again to the old principle—let the best man win."
"Our men who played are just regular fellows, and when they pass off
the boards there will be other regular fellows to take their places. They don't throw out their chests. They are plain, honorable, clean-minded Americans, just as the others are clean-handed, clean-minded Britons.
"The co-operation of the Anglo-Saxon races, without suspicion and with full confidence one in the other,
is the only solution of the tremendous problems that now confront the world. I can assure you, from conversations with representatives of other races in the last few weeks,
that this is what the others want us
to do."
"Sportsmanship is neither an art nor a science. It is an institution of the human race. It makes for more than independence; it makes for discipline.

CHAIR OF AMERICAN HISTORY INSTITUTED AT MANSION HOUSE

Viscount Bryce Declares American Constitution Is "Greatest Contribution to Government."

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, June 28.—Viscount Bryce, former British Ambassador in Washington, inaugurating the Sir George Watson chair of American history at the Mansion House yesterday, declared the United States Constitution was "the greatest single contribution made to government as an applied science."

Englishmen, Viscount Bryce asserted, studied American history too little, and he hoped the Watson foundation would bear abundant fruit in better understanding between the two peoples.
The establishment of the Watson
chair is said to be the first serious attempt to teach American history in England, aside from the course begun in Oxford University a year ago.
The Watson chair will not be attached to any university, but lectures will be delivered in the various colleges.

us. Let us have this game every year. Let us keep them together, and we will have broken the heart
of the quarrelsome, noisy individuals who are trying to keep us separated.
"I have a confession to make. I believe the great mass of American people have conceived a notion that in Capt. Milburn they have developed the greatest polo player the world has ever known. At least they hope so, and they are proud of what their men have done."

$10,000 A YEAR FOR TERM OF 15 YEARS

J. Raymond McCarl of Ne-

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—J. Raymond McCarl of Nebraska, secretary of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, was nominated yesterday by President Harding to be Comptroller-General of the United States, a position created by the new budget law, which becomes effective Friday.
The Comptroller's term of office is 15 years, and he is made ineligible for reappointment. His salary will be $10,000 a year.
McCarl is about 40 years old and has been secretary of the congressional committee for about three years. He is a graduate of the University of Nebraska Law School and was secretary to Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, for a number of years.

As Comptroller-General, McCarl
will have charge of Government finances, expenditure of appropriations, auditing of all expenditures,
settlement and adjustment of claims of and against the Government and management of all fiscal affairs with the exception only of postal accounts,
which are to be under a special Comptroller of the Postoffice Department, created by the new law.
Many Government activities will be centralized under the chief Comptroller. He will inherit the duties, personnel staff, documents and offices of the Comptroller of the Treasury, whose position and those of six auditors for various Government departments are abolished by the new act.

DAWES PREPARING TO PUT THE BUDGET PLAN INTO EFFECT

Conference of President, Cabinet
Members and Department Heads Tomorrow.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—Preparatory to the establishment of the new Federal budget system, which becomes operative Friday, began to take tangible form yesterday.
As a first step, Charles G. Dawes, director of the budget, at the request of the President, called a conference
for tomorrow of all Cabinet members and other executive administrative officials, at which President Harding will preside. The President also directed Dawes to draft a tentative form for the new budget within the next 30 days, with estimates of the absolute minimum of Government funds needed for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

A White House statement called attention to the necessity for economy in governmental expenditures and said that the tentative form of the budget should be drawn up in the way into the discussion at the conference. The White House statement referred to this phase as a potential field for financial saving incident to general operation of the budget, and it was said that the Treasury that the budget plans might as
well anticipate congressional action
in reorganization and reclassification
of the employees, trimming the expenditures correspondingly.

CHANGE IN PARCEL POST URGED

St. Louisans Ask for Revision of Treaty With Cuba.

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—Representative Harry B. Hawes has placed before Secretary of Commerce Howard a request from the Rice-Rix Dry Goods Co. of St. Louis for revision of a treaty with Cuba as to parcel post service. T. D. Eismann, president of the concern, pointed out that American exporters are at a disadvantage, as they can send packages of only four pounds six ounces, while other countries can send 11 pounds.
The St. Louis Chamber of Commerce has appealed to President Harding to exercise his veto power against the packing bill, which is aimed to pass Congress soon. Protests are made that it is governmental interference with business and will delay the return to normalcy.

Judge H. W. Belding of Webster

State Federal Soldiers' Home at St.

board have chosen him as its president.
Judge Belding for 13 years presided
over the City Court at Webster

Union Electric Employees Find Cost of Living Here Now Is 55 Per Cent Higher Than in 1914

Wages of 1400 Will Be Cut 5 Pct. for Next Six Months but Still Will Be 100 Pct.
Higher Than in 1914.

Employees of the Union Electric Light and Power Co., who have a perpetual wage contract with the company providing for the readjustment of wages every six months on a fixed basis in which the cost of living is approximately a two-thirds factor,
have prepared a comparison of retail prices in St. Louis in 1914 and on last April 1, which shows that the cost of living here still is 55.39 per cent higher than in 1914 for the average family.
The computation will be used to establish an index figure of the cost of living here as reflected by retail prices, the only previous figures available having been a less exhaustive, more general computation of the Department of Labor and the Annal index figure, which was based upon wholesale prices and was prepared in New York.
Six Fundamentals of Cost.
In making the computation, six fundamentals of living cost were considered—food, clothing, housing, fuel
and electricity, furniture and sundries. Included in sundries were street car fares, newspapers, hait-
cuts, soap, rice, union dues, tobacco, motion picture admissions, life and fire insurance and taxes. The proportion that each of the six items
has in a family budget was taken from a formula prepared by the Department of Labor after investigation.
On that basis the computation showed the following changes in the cost of living in 1914 and in 1921:

BUDGET.	Per Cent of Total Budget.	Per Cent of Total Budget.	Per Cent of Total Budget.
Food	38.5	38.29	19.40
Clothing	15.0	69.21	9.07

MUST WORK TOGETHER.

"We've got to get these people to working together," he added later.
"How would a corporation as big as this Government operate? Not like the Government has been, I hope.
We want all of these officers and directors to be there and the President of the Government corporation is going to preside. It is the first time this has ever been done, but it won't be the last. It's business affair and ought to be done in a business way."
It was indicated also that the subject of reorganization of various Government departments would find its way into the discussion at the conference. The White House statement referred to this phase as a potential field for financial saving incident to general operation of the
budget, and it was said that the Treasury that the budget plans might as
well anticipate congressional action
in reorganization and reclassification
of the employees, trimming the expenditures correspondingly.

COSTS DROP, BUT BREAD AND ICE REMAIN HIGH

Federal Bank Report Shows Retail Figures Maintained in Spite of Cheaper Materials.

The retail prices of ice and bread
have held firmly at their peak levels
during the last 30 days, although, in the case of ice, costs for fuel, labor, chemicals and distribution have declined, and in the case of bread, wheat and flour have declined. It is declared in the monthly report of the Federal Reserve Bank for the Eighth
(St. Louis) District, issued today.
The prices of these staples, together with the level of rents and certain public utility charges, have prevented a general feeling of decline in the cost of living, the report asserts. As to prices, notably of bread and ice, the report said:
"Specific price changes during the period under review have been quite numerous, and analysis of the several movements indicates good progress in the direction of ultimate stabilization. In the case of goods for personal consumption, included in the classification of clothing, food and incidentals, the price variation has been relatively narrow, and not uniformly downward. Quite a number of articles showed resistance, and even reacted slightly upward from the recent low point. It was further noted that several important articles of food, notably ice and bread, held firmly at or about their peak levels
despite the fact that their cost levels were down to $1.50 a bushel, against $2.86 at the same time in 1920, and flour is selling at $7.50 to $8.50 (wholesale) against $12.50 to $15.50 a year ago. The declines in fuel, labor, chemicals and distribution costs of ice have failed to react thus far on the price to consumers of the finished product. Immobility in the price of bread, and several other items, including public service
charges, coupled with high rents, serves to prevent the full influence of general reductions being felt in the cost of living."

As to general conditions, the report said:
"General business during the past 30 days has undergone no marked changes as contrasted with the similar period immediately preceding."

STATEMENT BY OBREGON PLEASES WASHINGTON

Declarations in Post-Dispatch, if in Official Form, Would Win Recognition, Unofficial View.

HIS SINCERITY IS NOT QUESTIONED

All U. S. Wants of Mexico Is Assurances by Treaty on Article 27 and That Claims Will Be Met.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, June 28.—If President Obregon will put into the right sort of official document the declarations made in his remarkable presentation of Mexico's case in the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch yesterday, recognition of his Government by our own would immediately follow. This is a fair interpretation of unofficial comments of high officials on the Mexican executive's frank declaration. Official comment is unobtainable for the administration takes the stand that it cannot criticize or analyze the statement of another nation.
As a matter of fact, a new situation develops, as it is unprecedented
for the sovereign officer of a state to lay the whole course of his Government before the people of another as Gen. Obregon has done.
How this new situation is to be met
may develop from the Cabinet session today.

Put into a paragraph, the unofficial attitude of our Government is that the country asks for is that Mexico should embrace in a treaty of commerce and amity the assurance that there is no retroactive principle in article 27 of the Constitution of 1917, together with the assurance that American claims will be dealt with according to the customs of international obligations.

Officials do not question either President Obregon's sincerity or the accuracy of his statements. What they are in doubt of is that the sentiments he expressed will continue to be the view of Mexico. In other words, President Obregon's offers
and promises are not sufficient.

ARE OBREGON'S DECLARATIONS

The next administration, either elected to succeed him, or if such a thing should occur, put in power
by a revolution, would not be bound by what he said in the World and Post-Dispatch. They are the declarations of Alvaro Obregon, not the declarations of the republic of Mexico. In treaty form they would be binding on the nation and the nation could be held to account should they be repudiated.

No revolution is looked for in Mexico, but this country cannot but take cognizance of past events and cannot close its eyes to the possibility that ambition or dissatisfaction may engender a new revolution, is the official view.

The declarations of President Obregon are extremely pleasing to the officials of the State Department.
They would like to have assurances that they are concerned in by the Mexican Congress.
There is no desire to ask the impossible of the Mexican President;
one phase of whose article seemed to hint rather bitterly that they were ignoring the constitutional limitations of his office. They knew that the Mexican Congress would have to concur in a treaty. But the sole approach to a government is through its executive, and they have made that approach in the treaty submission by Charles d'Affaires Summerlin.
They point out that Carranza made similar protestations when the Constitution of 1917 was up between this country and Mexico, only to follow them a short time afterward with decrees that were admittedly conflicting.

Pre-Election Position.

Gen. Obregon, in his pre-election campaign, referred to article 27, insisting that he did not believe it was retroactive, and his friends call attention to the fact that since his advancement to the presidency he has not shown any tendency to discriminate between Mexicans and foreigners.
Even admitting this, the State Department is without official affirmation of the principles.
There is now before the State Department a brief of the American oil
men operating in Mexico—the American group preferred to indicate their loyalty by President Obregon—in which they charge that the new oil decree announced by Obregon is absolutely confiscatory of American rights and threatens ruin to the men if it is enforced. No verdict has been rendered on this brief by the State Department; it has not even determined whether it gives grounds for representations by this Government to Mexico. It only teaches that the last Saturday. An announcement may be forthcoming in a few days.

Jimmy Bronson Tells Wray That He'll Be Surprised If Carpentier Lasts 3 Rounds

In Poll of 25 Persons Competent to Speak 20 Favor Dempsey to Win — Georges Bars Even Formerly Privileged Persons From Camp.

By John E. Wray.

Sporting Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Georges Carpentier, potential heavyweight champion of the world, may fulfill all the nice things that a few friends are saying about him here; but it will be impossible to prove them, or any part of them, by personal observation of his talents in action. Carpentier, at the present time, is harder to see than the Grand Lama of Tibet.

Visitors to his camp yesterday got a long range view of him, as he stepped out of the doorway of the cottage at Manhasset; but as he was speedily "hooded" back in by his industrious manager, Descamps, they obtained only a fleeting view of a pleasant-faced, smiling, rather slight looking party. It was positively stated that all attempts to see Carpentier in his workout prior to the big fight of July 2 would be futile.

A number of late arriving newspaper men attempted to "crash" the Manhasset gates, but not even formerly privileged persons got a view of Georges in any practice he might have held.

Comment on his condition is therefore futile except as reflected in the reports of the many correspondents and critics who had previously seen him in action. While most of these seemed to agree that the French challenger was in excellent physical form, without exception they took the reports of his private training with a grain of salt. The prevailing opinion was that the secret work of Carpentier was not devoted to develop any tricks or strategic moves, but was due to fear of "showing up" the true ability of the European champion.

Poll of Popular Opinion.

If a poll of popular opinion of 25 persons competent to speak on the subject means anything, here it is: Twenty favored Dempsey to win. Three favored Carpentier. Two thought the Frenchman had a chance.

All agreed that his physical condition was not a matter to be questioned.

Among those who expressed views about Carpentier last night was Jimmy Bronson, manager of Bob Martin, who fights Frank Moran here Friday night. Bronson is better qualified than most critics to pass upon the new Carpentier—the fighter who has risen like a phoenix from seven years of oblivion into the world's championship prominence, because of nothing in particular.

Bronson was in France during the war—with the Y. M. C. A. He was the most popular referee in France. During most of the Paris bouts Jimmy was in demand, and because he was there that he first appreciated the talents of Bob Martin, international champion, his present protégé.

Jimmy Bronson on Carpentier.

Bronson saw Carpentier on several occasions and had a good opportunity to judge of his condition and

Smith went all the way to third. Johnston singled to left. Smith scored. Coveleskie singled to center. Covey's grounder to Lee forced Nunamaker. TWO RUNS.

SIXTH INNING.

CLEVELAND—Jameson walked. Wamby walked. Speaker walked. filling the bases. Smith tripled to center. Jameson, Wamby and Speaker scoring. Gardner flied to Tobin. Smith scoring. Sewell drew the fourth base of the inning. Johnston fouled to Sisler. Nunamaker singled to left. Coveleskie flied to Wetzel. FOUR RUNS.

SEVENTH INNING.

BROWNS—Coveleskie tossed out Ellerbe. Sisler doubled to right. Williams walked. Severid flied to Jameson. Coveleskie threw out Wetzel. NO RUNS.

CLEVELAND—Bayne now pitching for the Browns. Evans batted for RUN.

Jameson and singled to center. Wamby doubled to left. Bayne threw out Speaker. Wood batted for Smith and singled to right. Evans and Wamby scoring. Gardner forced Wood. Ellerbe to McManus. Sewell batted for Johnston and lined to McManus. TWO RUNS.

EIGHTH INNING.

BROWNS—Evans went to left. Wood to right and Burns to first. McManus tripled to center. Lee fouled to Wood. Bayne singled to left. McManus scoring. Tobin singled to right. Ellerbe hit into a double play. Gardner to Wamby to Johnston. ONE RUN.

CLEVELAND—Lamb went to center for St. Louis. Nunamaker fanned. Sisler getting the put-out. Coveleskie flied to Wetzel. Evans lined to Wetzel. NO RUNS.

NINTH INNING.

BROWNS—Sisler's single was too hot for Coveleskie. Williams singled to right. Severid flied to center. scoring. Sisler. Wetzel flied to Speaker. McManus hit into a double play. Sewell to Wamby to Burns. ONE RUN.

In addition Albertson has arranged a bout between Bartling Pats of the East Side and Pat Bartholomew of St. Louis at 115 pounds; another will be announced within a few days.

A BUM GUESSER.

LINN BRENTON on a summer's day Tossed a game of ball away.

Two in the eighth, the score was tied.

At 2 to 2 for either side.

With one man out and two on base, McHenry then he had to face.

He thought it were the better plan To pass him and get Doc Lavan.

Accordingly, he did that same.

And that was how he lost the game.

The doctor didn't do a thing.

But land upon that pellet, bing!

Result: Three runners crossed the plate.

A three-base clout for Doc Lavan.

And of all sad words of tale or song The saddest are these: "I guess, him wrong."

TIS SO.

Passing a batter to get Doc Lavan was bad medicine.

Georges Carpentier will get $100,000 for his end of the purse. To be perfectly frank about it, that's more money than Georges ever

Missouri Valley Net Tourney to Start Saturday

Sectional Doubles Championship Will Also Be Decided on Triple A Courts.

By Davison Obeare.

The annual Missouri Valley tennis tournament for men will start Saturday afternoon on the courts of the Triple A Club in Forest Park. There will be two events, the singles and the sectional doubles. The singles event is open to any tennis player belonging to a club holding membership in the United States Lawn Tennis Association. Entry in the doubles is limited to players residing within the valley section.

Both the sectional doubles and the singles event will be held under the direction of the St. Louis District Tennis Association, which is affiliated with the Missouri Valley Lawn Tennis Association. The team winning the sectional doubles will be entitled to play in the national doubles championship to be held at Boston during the week commencing Aug. 22. Railroad and Pullman fares to and from Boston will be allowed members of the team, according to the rules of the national association.

From reports already received, a strong contingent of out-of-town players will invade St. Louis for the valley event. First-round matches for these players will be held open until Monday night, although some are expected to arrive on Saturday.

Spice and Parks Entered.

Charles Spice and Ben Parks of Oklahoma, present Missouri Valley champions, have sent in their entry and will play in both singles and doubles. Parks is the singles champion of Oklahoma University and only recently won the Missouri Valley Conference title by defeating Wray Brown of Washington University in the final round.

The leading doubles team to Kansas City, Teacher and Newell, will take part and Clarence Holcomb, another star from the same city, is also expected. Two officials of the Missouri Valley Association, H. B. Lee of Omaha and E. J. Isaacson of Sioux City, Ia., will be on hand for the matches.

Darrough and Monnett who played here several years ago may send their entry in the next several days. These two Oklahoma stars made a very favorable showing during a recent Central States tournament.

Invitation Doubles Planned.

If a sufficient number of entries are received from players who do not reside in the states of Oklahoma, Missouri, Kansas, Iowa or Nebraska, a special invitation doubles will be held as such players are not eligible for the sectional doubles.

Entries for the Missouri Valley championship will be received at Spalding's or Leacock's up to 5 p. m. Friday. In the singles the entry fee will be $1 per player while the doubles will be $3 for each team.

Play will be open only to members of clubs holding membership in the National Association through a city, state or sectional association.

FEDERAL RESERVE BANK TENNIS TOURNAMENT RESULTS

Twelve matches have been played in the singles event of the annual tournament for the tennis championship of the Federal Reserve Bank. Only two matches have been completed in the doubles. D. C. Griffith, A. L. Gordon, E. A. Dickhaus and Adrian are among those favored to reach the semifinal round. In the doubles Schaefer and Wittenberg, Wood and Griffith, and Stodole and Gordon are considered the leading combinations, while Samel and Klein and Miller and Dickhaus should also finish strong.

The courts at Triple A were wet last night and only a strong sun this morning will put them in shape for play this afternoon. The schedule of play in the American Legion event this afternoon will be the same as that announced yesterday. ## Carpentier's Chances to Win

Justify 4 to 1 Odds, Says Edgren

Dempsey's Right Hand Is Equal to the Challenger's, While Champion Also Has a Good Left—Both Fighters in Condition for July 2 Battle.

By John Edgren.

MANHASSET, N. Y., June 28.—Only four days to the big fight, and both camps are as full of optimism and sure-to-win spirit as a pair of rival political campaign headquarters. Last glimpse I had of Carpentier was humming snatches of French light opera, in three-minute rounds with one-minute rests. In the past two days I have checked up on both Dempsey and Carpentier at the dinner table, and there are no two healthier and voracious appetites in the United States.

At Carpentier's the whole training staff has turned into a troupe of entertainers, with Georges as end man, assisted by his trick dog Flip. Down at Dempsey's Jack is happy as a clam from the moment he finishes thumping his sparring partners. In the ring, he is the same fighter who saw at Toledo, but outside the smile takes the place of the scowl, and he tells funny stories about his ring experiences, kids his training staff and has as much fun as he can behind the high board fence that shuts him off from Atlantic City and the outside world.

Carpentier says: "I am determined to win. Nothing that Dempsey can do will stop me. I have felt for years that I am to be champion, and at last the time has come. There is no doubt in my mind. It is my destiny to win."

Talks a Lot About Destiny.

They talk a lot about destiny at Carpentier's camp. "From the first I knew Georges to be world's champion," says Dempsey. "He has come through class after class, to the heavyweight. He has won the light heavyweight championship and now only one match remains to make him world's champion. He will win, just as he has won before. Napoleon had his star. So, too, has Carpentier. It was for this he came through the war without being killed, with men killed all around him, and his plane often riddled with shrapnel and machine bullets. They say I have strange powers. No, no, I make no such claim. But I have seen Carpentier as champion. I know it will come true."

This brings us around to the realm of mysteries, hypnotism and second sight. In England they believe fully that little Dempsey, crouching in Carpentier's corner, not only directs every fighting movement of his man by hypnotic suggestion, but by the same power weakens Carpentier's opponents and makes him an easy victim of the knockout blows. Dempsey laughs loudly and dismisses any hypnotic power of that sort, although he admits that he gave exhibitions with Georges when the French champion was a boy. To my mind, if there is any hypnotic eye around the camp, and imposing of a mental influence on an opponent, it comes directly from Carpentier. Dempsey is the keen, quick-witted manager and second, overlooking no advantage. But Carpentier has a bold eye and a convincing confidence that might easily influence an opponent of weaker mentality.

Dempsey's Concentration.

But he won't influence Dempsey. If ever there was a master of the art of concentration in the ring it is Champion Jack. When he fights, his mind is so absolutely centered on one thing that he doesn't know what is going on two yards away. All his powers are bunched within the reach of his arms. He doesn't see the crowd. Even in training bouts he never sees anyone sitting at the ringside, never even nods to an acquaintance. When he is fighting his head is lowered, his arms are bent so that his clenched hands are moving constantly only a few inches from his chin. His legs work automatically and his attention is rigidly focused on the small space between his own chest and the body of his opponent—the three or four feet where all the action of the fight takes place.

Blows cross that space coming and going. Dempsey and a whole battalion of hypnotists could spread along the ropes, and they never catch Dempsey's eye. He'd never know they were there. I doubt that Dempsey will ever see Carpentier's eyes from the moment he moves out at the first bell or note the expression on Carpentier's face. To him Carpentier will be only a shifting target, and the target will extend only from a few inches above Carpentier's belt to the point of his chin. The rest of Carpentier's anatomy, so far as Dempsey is concerned, might as well be invisible. It won't interest him.

So far as condition goes, there is little to choose between the two

Another Title Go Already Discussed

Carpentier and Dempsey Camps Ask Rickard to Find Opponent for Labor Day Bout.

By John E. Wray.

NEW YORK, June 28.—"Make hay while the sun shines," seems to be the official slogan of everyone connected with the fight game. At the present writing, even before the tumult and the shouting about the Dempsey-Carpentier fight has reached a climax, they are planning the next world's championship fight.

Talks with Jack Kearns, manager of Dempsey, with Gus Wilson of the Carpentier camp and with the Rickard camp, the big question "how?" at Jersey City probably will be used for another title battle on Labor day. The fact that the sale of Dempsey's rights for $250,000 would bring only $250,000 of the $250,000 it cost to erect, is probably the principal motive in inducing Rickard to consider another event almost immediately, while Dempsey and Carpentier are harking to the pleasant fringe of additional coin.

To hear the two camps talk, one would think each was trying to out-bluff the other with a show of confidence. Kearns told the Post-Dispatch that a Dempsey and Brennan bout would be put on, Labor day—a calm assumption of victory for Dempsey on July 2 that brought forth from the Carpentier camp a request upon Rickard that he arrange a title match for Georges to take place on Labor day.

But the financial element is so great that all concerned are figuring on getting over another big match quickly before the forces of reform become effectively organized. As the day of the bout approaches injunctions and other bombs to impede the smooth running of arrangements for the July 2 episode are being devised, but the "body politic"—accents on the politics—of New Jersey is all in line with Rickard and the coming fight will not be stopped.

NEW YORK, June 28.—Return of the $115,000 paid for the race horse Playfellow, brother of the noted Man of War, has been requested by Sam C. Hildreth. It was reported here today. The racer, which was bought from the Quincy stable recently, was withdrawn from a race at Aqueduct yesterday because of the alleged discovery that the horse was a "wind sucker," and was in no condition to race.

Playfellow gained prominence through his relationship to Man of War, and his winning of two races in succession at Belmont this season. Since his purchase he finished second to Knobbie, a stablemate, and later was defeated in a race with Fair Gain and Thunderstorm.

PARIS, June 28.—Georges Gloria, the only man living who ever knocked out Georges Carpentier, the French heavyweight, accomplishing that feat in six rounds in 1919, commenting yesterday on Carpentier's forthcoming championship bout with Jack Dempsey, said: "Carpentier must win in the first or second round or else he is doomed to defeat."

Dempsey will be weighed down by the enormous responsibility of carrying the honor of America on his broad shoulders," Gloria declared. "His brain will be absolutely paralyzed during the first round, as was that of Beskett (the English heavyweight) in his match with Carpentier."

COCOANUT OIL MAKES A SPLENDID SHAMPOO

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Multified coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten your hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls of Multified will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multified coconut oil shampoo at most any drug store. It is very cheap, and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multified.

A group of young enthusiasts, ranging from 8 to 13 years of age, is planning a large lawn show to be given, weather conditions permitting, on the lawn at 4530 Newberry terrace, Thursday evening, at 8 o'clock. About 20 children will participate in the entertainment, which is to be followed by a sale of refreshments, the entire proceeds of the evening's work to be turned into the Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund and used for the benefit of the babies.

Substantial assistance for the fund was received yesterday when $22.55, the returns from a show and bazar at 3019 Wyoming street, was reported. The children who gave the affair were all from the 2500 block of Wyoming street. Their names are Ray, Meyer, Leo, Bertha and Adolph Frank, Mary Rose and Kathryn Cummings, and Lucetta Drosden.

Four girls, Elizabeth Fisher, Virginia Farrar, Gusta Barsh and Constance Grier, conducted a lemonade stand in the 5600 block of Cates avenue and earned $7.46 for the Milk and Ice Fund.

Alma Buck and Marguerite Kinsely presided over a lemonade stand in the 3100 block of Chouteau avenue, and earned 50 cents. They plan to sell ice cream next Sunday and hope to clear additional money for the fund.

Two cash donations were received yesterday. Le Guay sent $1 and $2 came from E. L. Y.

Tickets and Placards Will Be Furnished to Helpers of Fund.

The Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund wishes again to call to the attention of children or adults who are interested in promoting benefits for the babies, that upon application, official tickets will be furnished free of charge. Placards to advertise the sale of lemonade or ice cream also will be provided if needed.

Where possible it is preferred that the printed ticket forms be used, as this does away with the possibility of fraud, similar to the one practiced last week by the boy who sold tickets of his own making, advertising a fictitious show, to residents in the 5900 block of Euclid avenue.

To prevent possibility of dishonesty on the part of the scattered few who would profit at the expense of the suffering children of the tenement district, the public is asked to give no money in any way, or to donate any supplies to anyone claiming to be working for the fund who is a stranger. The Post-Dispatch Pure Milk and Free Ice Fund does not employ solicitors of cash contributions, and it is desired that as far as possible workers sell tickets and conduct their activities among persons with whom they are acquainted.

These smartly tailored Skirts are of pre-shrunk white gabardine, variously styled and trimmed, sizes 24 to 38 waist.

Ideal for outings are these charming new Slipover Frocks that fit so comfortably loose to be cool and yet possess a trimness of appearance that will satisfy women and misses who are most particular about being tastefully dressed at all times. Another feature which makes them especially adapted for outing wear is that they are so easily laundered. Wide and diversified is our showing for Wednesday, making it the day for best selection.

Pompadour, organdie, ratine, linen, linene and ginghams have been used to develop these highly popular Frocks, which are so prettily trimmed, and the color assortment seems to be without end. Sizes 14 years to 40 bust.

Trio of St. Louis Boys Awarded Free Ranger Bicycles

EDWARD W. QUINN, 10-year-old pupil, attending St. James Parochial School, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard J. Quinn, of 6211 West Park avenue, spent four days in hustling for the prized "Ranger." He confined his work to his own neighborhood and thus facilitated the work of verifying. During Edward's visit to the Post-Dispatch office, he assumed a matter-of-fact attitude, as though earning a $60 bicycle by his own effort was quite an ordinary achievement. He acknowledged, though, that his brother and sister shared with his parents the family pride in the achievements of this youthful member of the household.

What has been done by these three boys is being duplicated by many other boys and girls who have seized the opportunity offered by The POST-DISPATCH to earn a new $60 completely equipped Ranger Bicycle without one cent of cost to them.

JOSEPH ALBERT McCOLLUM, nine and a half years old, and only son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. McCullom, of 3965 Greer avenue, made good use of the telephone and mail service in soliciting his 20 new subscriptions. By this intensive campaigning he completed his quota within two days after the Post-Dispatch offer was first announced. Some delay in verifying the orders resulted from the scattered addresses of his subscribers, but when he came to the Post-Dispatch office to select his model and size of "Ranger," Joseph described himself as a "truly happy boy."

Look for Our Daily Announcements of the Successes of Live, Energetic Boys and Girls

Meantime, you, too, may earn a Ranger by spare-time effort.

LEON H. EPSTEIN is ten years old. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert F. Epstein, of 5656 Waterman avenue. Leon lost a good bicycle a few months ago. He believes it was stolen. The Post-Dispatch offer presented an opportunity to earn a new bike to replace the stolen one. The energy and spirit he displayed, and the experience gained as a result of the effort are rated by his father as having great value for his young son.

The POST-DISPATCH Offers 1000 New Ranger Bicycles to Boys and Girls for 20 NEW 6-Months' Subscriptions

The Plan Is Simple—But There Are a Few Necessary Requirements—Read Them and Avoid Unnecessary Misunderstanding and Dispute:

20 subscriptions are required—each for 6 months. No extra credit for yearly subscriptions.

New subscriptions are required—from persons not now reading the daily POST-DISPATCH.

Daily subscriptions are required. No credit allowed for Sunday POST-DISPATCH subscriptions. A Sunday POST-DISPATCH reader who has not been reading the daily POST-DISPATCH may subscribe through you under this plan.

Verified subscriptions are required. We investigate the validity of the order and the subscriber's responsibility. All orders are received subject to acceptance by the POST-DISPATCH.

Offer is open only to boys and girls who are not identified with the sale or distribution of the POST-DISPATCH, and who reside within St. Louis carrier delivery limits, including East St. Louis, Belleville, Granite City, Venice, and Madison, in Illinois; and Kirkwood, Webster Groves, Clayton, Ferguson, Florissant, Valley Park and Maplewood in Missouri.

Uncommon Sense

By JOHN BLAKE

Find Out How They Do It.

SPENDING your days addressing the world at large the question: "How do they do it?" is going to bring you any information.

You will see in your travels the railroad president, the banker, the author—all respected, all getting a great deal of a life that they have, each in their own way, made easier for them.

You will read, perhaps, that this man started on a farm, that the other began as an office boy, that the third president once wiped his nose on the line which he now and if you are normal the question: "How do they do it?" will occur to you very frequently. For these men will look much like other men; they will talk like other men; they will have the same interest in baseball scores and the outcome of a big prize fight. And it will be difficult for you to understand just what it was that placed them in the high positions they occupy, and kept them there.

The answer to your question is, unfortunately, not inaccessible. You can find out how they do it, if you

Nearly all of them have written, or will write, exactly how they did it. If they do not, they will tell you, or will put it on paper for you to see.

And you will be very much surprised to discover that, in most cases, the one thing that did it was application and industry—in other words, hard work.

Geniuses are men apart. They know how they do it, and they tell you.

But successful business men and writers and doctors are not geniuses; they are merely men with natural ability, and enough energy to keep working till they get what they are after.

Study and read their biographies, however you find them. They will give you a very important lesson. And if they can help you a little toward exerting more energy and cherishing a little higher purpose, the time you spend in reading about them will be paid for at the rate of many thousand dollars an hour.

A Short Story in Three Daily Installments.

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

"You'd laugh," wrote Jim, "if you saw the dump where I generally spend my evenings. Gee, even back in Laneville we'd never stand for it, and they say the French are the Kings of Pleasure when they haven't got a war on their hands. Still, it's some place to go. And there are one or two pretty girls—mostly ones who are sorry for us fellows who are far away from home. And we do get lonely. Believe me, mother, I miss"

Jim's mother stopped reading at once. There are unimportant paragraphs in a boy's letters home which do not seem unimportant to the recipients. She closed the book and then turned to her scribbles.

"We'll go to this cabaret tonight—shall we?"

"Well, shall we?" I answered. "I wonder. It isn't just the kind of place where ordinary ladies—"

I was floundering on when her voice, now very clear, indeed, interrupted me.

"I don't mind going anywhere where my boy went."

"Oh," murmured I in confusion. "It's only that the songs sometimes—"

But, of course, you wouldn't understand the songs and—"

"What I would understand," she explained—she now had to explain things to both her husbands and me—"would be anyone who had been sorry for my Jim when he was lonely for home and for his father and mother."

"I see," I answered. But I saw as well the tawdry Cabaret Mondain and the somewhat bedraggled beauties who sang hoarsely and then disappeared in a disordered gait at the tables where they chose to sit. I saw poor "Miss Sunshine," her whitened face and painted lips, and the glory of her hair, tarnished and neglected.

Her hair, of beauty, ruin of womanhood as on the night before, behind her away, back there. She would, indeed, be a strange priestess at the shrine which my friends meant to visit in the coming night. Yet was not everything which they found along their pilgrim's road a shrine?

I cannot pretend that my after-dinner was wholly happy, though as a cicerone I had never personally conducted any tourists more anxious to be pleased. They liked St. Roch's and his picture, and they took a fancy to the little Trille. Yet some queer foreboding was on me, not exactly as of danger threatening, as of sorrow ready to pounce upon my little band. Must I be honest?—I consumed two glasses of port before I joined my friends again for dinner. Perhaps it was port wine, perhaps it was the golden moon that rose, even lower than on the night before, behind the tower and flooded the little town with beauty and magic, perhaps it was some inveterate and inherited belief in goodness—and possibly in Ohio, at any rate, something at long last came to me. Had I not for a day become, too, a pilgrim on the way that led through France back from the little cross under which Jim lay to Bress and the blue water that stretched seaward to one playful elapsing by the second always sheltered from harm?

We entered the Cabaret Mondain at the height, if there were one, of its dismal glory. Monsieur Tic-Toc, a dwarfish little creature who, I am quite sure, cleaned the establishment's pots and kettles in the morning, was singing, with pathetic winks, the story of a young lady named Angelique to whom had happened things which would quite certainly not have happened to her in Laneville, O.

A party of French drummers whom I had earlier observed at the

phrasing) stepped a little farther to wards the footlights.

"Un chanson en honneur des Américains!" she announced, and then translated:

A song for honor to Americans! There was something quaint and piquant in the accent. There was something so pleasant in the way she addressed herself to our little party. As earlier the magic of more foot-lights had made her fairer, so now this friendly courtesy, this poor little international amenity, made her younger. The kind of life she was leading ages women. I suddenly realized that she had been not so long ago a girl—and lovely. Per-haps when Jim had been—

"I love my love in the spring-time," she began. The pronunciation of the o's was odd. But her voice softened from its habitual rasp and a little of the tenderness of the ordinary middle-aged American male at his first meeting with so-called pleasure, possibly vice, in France. I thought the lid of his left eye trembled almost as if it would have winked at me. Let me again be honest—he exists in our story, but he is not of it. It is a story of his wife, God bless her, and ever so little of me—and of "Miss Sunshine."

To the resort where she had been in-ducted her friend brought her innocent gaiety. She applauded the songs which she could not under-stand. She urged a cigarette upon me. She even let a glass of beer sit in amber glory in front of her and once took a sip from it with some-how the air of a bird drinking at a sunlit woodland pool. She seemed all crystal, yet somehow as I watched her I wondered if there were not such a thing as a crystal which might make a false smile and a heart was breaking in its wearer's breast.

"I wonder," she said slowly—it was after that amazing sip at her back—"which of these girls knew Jim?"

"Perhaps," she replied. And she looked quietly at the gross com-mis voyageurs and her cheap cham-pagne. Monsieur Tic-Toc was con-suming a grenadine with two pol-lus.

It was Miss Sunshine's turn to sing. The footlights made the paint less tawdry, lit up the yellow hair with a glow almost of real gold. On that wretched little stage the theater again wrought its ancient miracle and the remnants of beauty ap-peared for an instant in payment of our paltry admission fee.

"That's a pretty good looking girl, ain't she, mother?" I heard father murmur.

"Yes," she answered. "Pretty hair, ain't it?"

Her tone was cheerful, yet it seemed to me that the tranquil blue pools that were her eyes were faintly suffused, as if a breath of air had stirred them for a passing instant. I thought I saw her hands clasped more tightly together in her lap. Do I sound like a detective? A kindly one, I hope. Again an odd, unformu-lated premonition. The song was over. But the only action it moved me to was the discarding of my glass of thin beer and of ordering what has for so long been ingeniously known in France as un gros American.

Miss Sunshine's song went fairly well. That is to say a half dozen people applauded, including one of the commis voyageurs, who was at once playfully elapsing by the large Mathilde for this attention to a fel-low but rival artist. Esprit de corps! Heint?

Eu de France were going as far as a bottle of cheap champagne, and la grosse Mathilde, a powerful brun-ette, was making considerable play with them at a table nearer ours than I might have thought best. But fortunately the dark and somewhat overblown beauty was recalled to the small stage, where a slightly sen-timental ballad, rendered in a deep, hoarse voice, might perhaps have made her seem a more serious per-son—had I not remembered sud-denly that of course my Stanleys could not understand a word of it.

Y seeming unconsciousness of any incongruity in the presence of the Cabaret Mondain of res-pectable and respected children was, of course, elaborate enough, yet I watched furtively the effect upon them. Mr. Stanley, let me be honest, would, left to himself, have ex-perienced some of the thrills which go through the ordinary middle-aged American male at his first meeting with so-called pleasure, possibly vice, in France. I thought the lid of his left eye trembled almost as if it would have winked at me. Let me again be honest—he exists in our story, but he is not of it. It is a story of his wife, God bless her, and ever so lit-tle of me—and of "Miss Sunshine."

To the resort where she had been in-ducted her friend brought her innocent gaiety. She applauded the songs which she could not under-stand. She urged a cigarette upon me. She even let a glass of beer sit in amber glory in front of her and once took a sip from it with some-how the air of a bird drinking at a sunlit woodland pool. She seemed all crystal, yet somehow as I watched her I wondered if there were not such a thing as a crystal which might make a false smile and a heart was breaking in its wearer's breast.

"Perhaps," she replied. And she looked quietly at the gross com-mis voyageurs and her cheap cham-pagne. Monsieur Tic-Toc was con-suming a grenadine with two pol-lus.

It was Miss Sunshine's turn to sing. The footlights made the paint less tawdry, lit up the yellow hair with a glow almost of real gold. On that wretched little stage the theater again wrought its ancient miracle and the remnants of beauty ap-peared for an instant in payment of our paltry admission fee.

"That's a pretty good looking girl, ain't she, mother?" I heard father murmur.

"Yes," she answered. "Pretty hair, ain't it?"

Her tone was cheerful, yet it seemed to me that the tranquil blue pools that were her eyes were faintly suffused, as if a breath of air had stirred them for a passing instant. I thought I saw her hands clasped more tightly together in her lap. Do I sound like a detective? A kindly one, I hope. Again an odd, unformu-lated premonition. The song was over. But the only action it moved me to was the discarding of my glass of thin beer and of ordering what has for so long been ingeniously known in France as un gros American.

Miss Sunshine's song went fairly well. That is to say a half dozen people applauded, including one of the commis voyageurs, who was at once playfully elapsing by the large Mathilde for this attention to a fel-low but rival artist. Esprit de corps! Heint?

And then the blonde singer (or blondine, if you prefer accuracy of phrasing) stepped a little farther to wards the footlights.

"Un chanson en honneur des Américains!" she announced, and then translated:

A song for honor to Americans! There was something quaint and piquant in the accent. There was something so pleasant in the way she addressed herself to our little party. As earlier the magic of more foot-lights had made her fairer, so now this friendly courtesy, this poor little international amenity, made her younger. The kind of life she was leading ages women. I suddenly realized that she had been not so long ago a girl—and lovely. Per-haps when Jim had been—

"I love my love in the spring-time," she began. The pronunciation of the o's was odd. ### Modern Maid

By Marguerite Mooers Marshall

A MAN'S idea of Happy Married Life is a Sargasso Sea of the Emotions. Where One Day is as Calm, Motionless and Monotonous as Another. A Woman Prefers Even an Occasional Typhoon to Such Vicious Tranquility.

A woman may have to work almost as hard to land a job as to land a husband, but a job, when caught, doesn't almost instantly flop off the hook and then rise to some other fair fisher's bait.

"Men don't get flustered from their wives," says the heroine of a sentimental story. But why not? If wives occasionally seasoned their "home truths" with a little flattery there might be a slump in the vamp business.

Comparable only to the water torture is the ordeal of living with a chain conversationalist, whose monotonous sentences, dropping incessantly on the same sensitive ear, reduce strong men to tears.

This is the time of year when the golf widow publicly laments her lot and privately plans to leave on Saturday afternoon with chocolates, hammock fiction and cold cream.

A man treats his love like the flower in his buttonhole. He is glad to display it as long as it is fresh, but when it withers he throws it away. Only a woman treasures faded flowers—and loves.

Any woman's definition of a real friend is the man who paraphrases gallantly: "My Arabella, may she always be right; but right or wrong, my Arabella."

Taking Advantage of Sales

THIS is my money savings plan. In the memorandum of my family, I have noted the various special sales of different department stores, with the dates on which they fall. They are the shoe, furniture, drug, stationery, silk, underwear and many other sales which are always offered during the same month in each year. On the following pages I make notes, as they occur to me, of articles which I shall need. For instance, I find that this friendly courtesy, this poor little international amenity, made her younger. The kind of life she was leading ages women. I suddenly realized that she had been not so long ago a girl—and lovely. Per-haps when Jim had been—

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY
By James J. Montague.

A CHANGE OF HEART.

What's this that we hear
From the Russian frontier?
Has Lenin, Lenin, or whatever they call him,
Permitted a strange change of heart to befall him.
And actually said
That a person of wealth,
With no loss of his head
And no risk to his health,
Could place the said wealth on accounts in the banks
And get nothing worse than the Government's thanks?

Why, Lenin, Lenin or whatever appellation
He bears in the hearts of his curious nation,
Once said if a man
Should presumptuously plan
To boost himself into the plutocrat clan—
If he saved up a cent
For the baby's new shoes
To pay the back rent
Or to lay in his booze,
They would take him at sunrise out in the back lot
And there he would be rather painfully shot.

And Lenin says now
That he said would allow
A man with a little spare cash in his closet,
The same in a bank of the realm to deposit,
For unless there is cash
From the banks to be had
The country will smash
Which will look rather bad.
And therefore the wealth having ruler importunes
Industrious moultis to save themselves fortunes
Still, if we were a moultik (We're glad we are not)
We think we would hang to what cash we had got.
For, though theft is a useful and praiseworthy habit,
If put in the banks, Mr. Lenin might grab it!

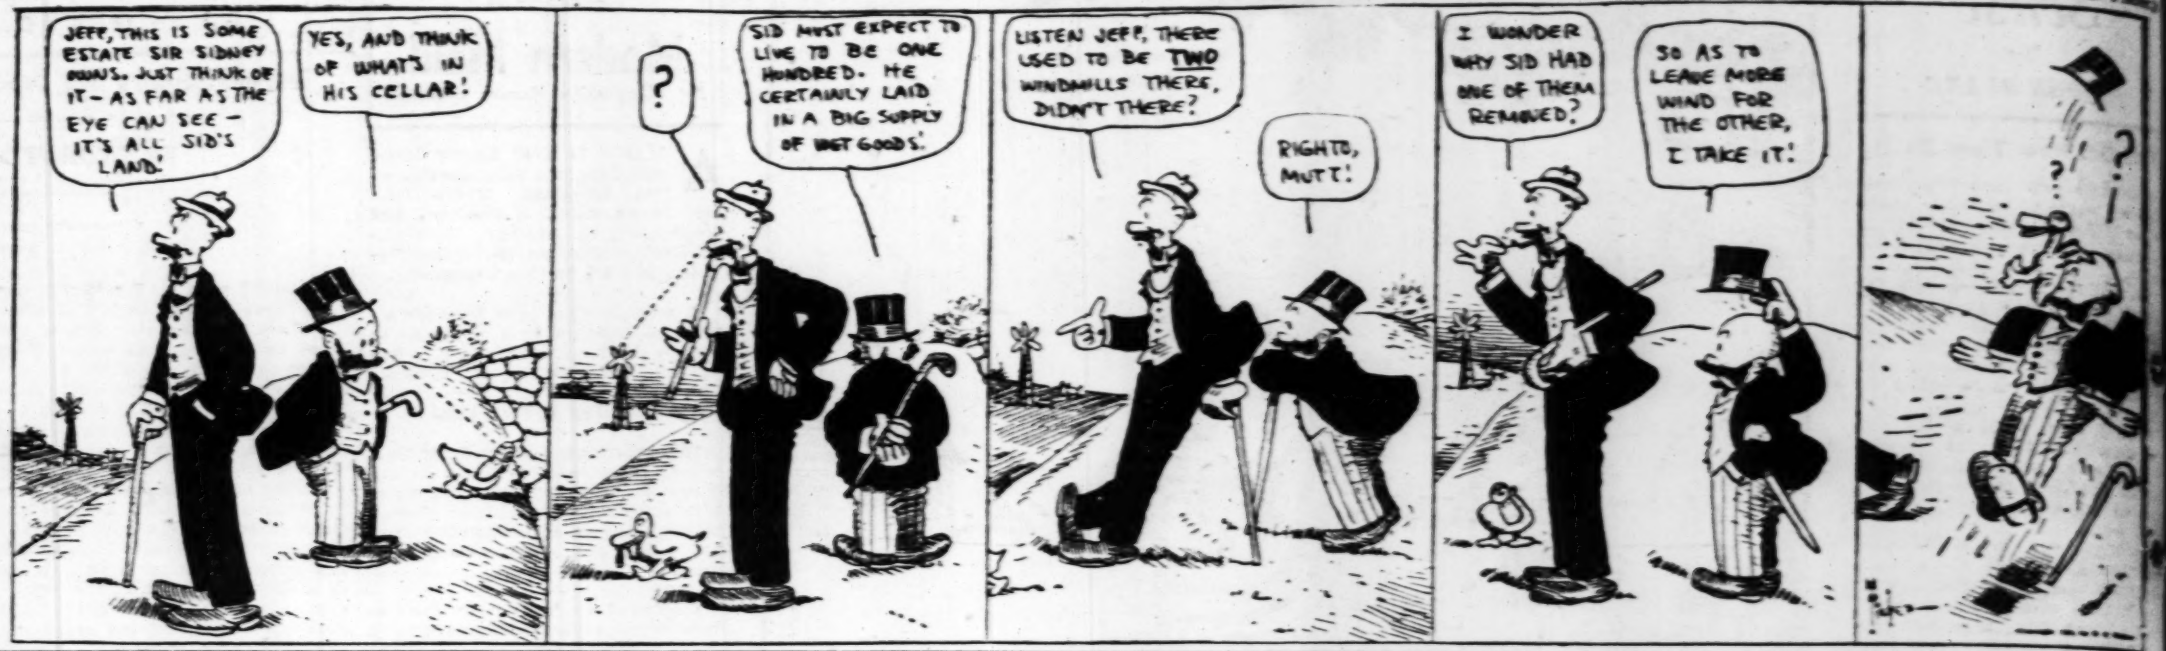

THEIR OWN GAME.
President Harding is only struggling For poetic justice when he attempts to throw the halter over the barren trust.

WITH ONE EXCEPTION.
We like to see Crown Princes, and don't care how many of 'em come over here just so his name isn't Ho-benzollers.
